Fail to Determine How Ship Was Lost With 39 Crewmen

Coast Guard Inquiry Sheds No Additional Light on Mystery

NEW YORK (AP)—A Coast Guard board of inquiry has ended 37 days of public hearings stymied in its effort to find out how the tanker Marine Sulphur Queen disappeared with 39 crewmen.

The ship, carrying molten sulphur, was last heard from on Feb. 4, off the coast of Florida in rough seas. There was no distress signal.

Rear Adm. James D. Craik, who headed the board of inquiry, said Monday that in the absence of any survivors or conclusive evidence the exact cause for the disappearance could not be ascertained.

He said the only conclusion that could be drawn was that the ship sank in or near the Straits of Florida. Study of evidence and testimony will continue.

Sailed Feb. 2

The Marine Sulphur Queen sailed Feb. 2 from Beaumont, Tex., bound for Norfolk, Va. She was a converted tanker fitted with special tanks for sulphur, kept molten by steam pipes.

The testimony dwelt mainly on construction details of the ship and analysis of the debris found some time after she disappeared.

Laboratory reports said there was no indication of any fire or explosion. Specialists testified that molten sulphur is not normally considered dangerously explosive.

The testimony also considered whether there was a structural breakdown. The sulphur tanks were attached to the hull with bolts that slid back and forth to allow for expansion and contraction of the tanks as the temperature varied.

Cmdr. Albert S. Frevola, recorder of the inquiry board, noted that another sulphur tanker, not identified, experienced an "explosive-like report" last June 27 and its tanks bulged about 10 inches on each side.

Witnesses testified that the condition of Marine Sulphur Queen life-jackets found later indicated that some of the men may have left the ship alive. The jackets had been used, they said, and some were torn as if a shark had bitten them.

Thirty-seven witnesses testified here and in Beaumont, Tex.

Heavy Guard For Convicts In Dane County

Recaptured Felon Boasted That He Will Break Out

MADISON (AP)—"Super-maximum" security has been ordered in the Dane County after one of three hardened Michigan convicts bragged he had engineered one escape and "this cracker-box jail and all your deputies are not strong enough to hold me."

Richard Mauch, 40, who was captured when he was subdued by a single Madison police detective Friday night in a barroom fight, and his two companions appeared in Dane County Court Monday and said they would fight extradition to Michigan.

Also appearing were Robert Gipson, 30, who was captured in the same tavern after he took a shot at an officer, and Elmer Crachy, 35, who was taken into custody after he leaped from the window of a Lake Waubesa cottage Saturday.

Hearing Ordered

Judge William Buezniz ordered an extradition hearing for the three June 25 and set bond for each at $100,000 cash or $200,000 in property. Crachy also was held in $50,000 bond on a federal fugitive warrant. In addition to the extradition warrants against the three, Mauch and Gipson were charged with resisting arrest and carrying concealed weapons.

Mauch, who was serving a life sentence for attempted murder and kidnapping, told Sheriff Vernon Leslie he had engineered the escape from Southern Michigan State Prison in Jackson April 22. Flooding with the trio was James Hall, who was captured earlier in the month in Missouri.

The three, who were in handcuffs during their court appearance, will be held in the Madison jail, on the sixth floor of the city-county building. Gipson had his right leg and foot in a cast as the result of a broken ankle suffered in his fight with officers.

Earlier, Sheriff Leslie said that Crachy had just returned to their Lake Waubesa hideout after purchasing a farm near Crosby.

Man Police theorized the trio planned to establish a permanent headquarters at the farm.

Sellinger Guilty Of Tax Evasion

MADISON (AP)—Philip Sellinger, public relations director of the Wisconsin Republican party, was found guilty today of five counts of state income tax evasion.

County Judge William Buezniz made the judgment in a bench decision after Sellinger pleaded no contest to each of the counts.

Vatican Reports He Has Growth in Stomach but Exact Nature Not Learned

BY BENNETT M. BOLTON

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Death brushed close to Pope John XXIII today, but he weathered the crisis.

The Vatican disclosed he is suffering from gastric heteroplasia—a growth in the stomach. This could be a cancer or a tumor, either benign or malignant.

The diagnosis, published by the Vatican newspaper, L'Osservatore Romano, was the first specifically defining the illness of the 81-year-old Roman Catholic pontiff.

The dictionary definition of heteroplasia is formation of abnormal tissue or of normal tissue in an abnormal locality.

Surgery Rejected

Through tense hours this morning, three doctors were at the Pope's bedside and worked to stem hemorrhaging. Vatican sources reported.

It was the worst crisis of the illness which felled him briefly last fall and has since recurred intermittently.

Medical personnel rushed in and out of the papal apartment.

It is possible the doctors have not determined the exact kind of growth involved in the past, surgery had been considered for exploratory purposes — and been rejected as too dangerous for the pontiff because of his age and condition.

Until today, the Vatican had said only that the Pope had a stomach disorder.

L'Osservatore said the hemorrhages, "caused by the gastric heteroplasia, which has affected the Holy Father for about a year, after being arrested for several months, have had an accentuated resumption in recent days."

"They have now been attenuated, and the organic consequences linked to them are, through today, limited and compensated by the curative measures adopted," it added.

Ill for Year

Aside from disclosing the growth, the statement also disclosed for the first time that the Pope had been ill for a year. Until now, his illness had been dated to last November.

The doctors were Piero Mazoni of Rome, who has remained almost constantly at the apostolic palace for a week; Antonio Gasbarrini, the Pope's personal physician; and Pietro Valdini, one of Italy's leading surgeons.

Mazoni went to the Pope's bedside at 9 15 a. m. An hour later

Cardinals Take on Additional Burdens

Govern During Pope's Illness; Electors in Event of Death

BY EUGENE LEVIN

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The illness of Pope John XXIII focuses attention on the Roman Catholic Church's College of Cardinals.

These 82 princes of the Church represent the Pope's senate. They are his closest advisers and collaborators. Cardinals also head Vatican administrative bodies that manage the day-to-day affairs of the Church.

Burden Increased

It will be the cardinals, gathered in secret conclave, who will elect a new Pope. Almost certainly they will choose one of their number.

With the Pope ill, more work is certain to fall on their shoulders, particularly on Amleto Cardinal Cicognani, Vatican secretary of state, who spent a quarter century in Washington as apostolic delegate.

The 80-year-old Italian cardinal is probably better acquainted with Pope John's thoughts and policies than any other prelate.

But only the Pope can act on such matters as his Ecumenical Council and diplomatic negotiations the Vatican is said to have entered with Communist Hungary and Poland.

Major Decisions Wait

The Pope is the absolute ruler of the Roman Catholic Church. It recognizes no substitute for his authority. Catholics feel he holds supreme power as the successor of St. Peter.

His dominant role is reflected in the provision that an Ecumenical Council is suspended automatically on the death of the Pope who convened it. The new Pope can leave it suspended or reconvene it.

The prospect in the case of prolonged illness is that the Vatican administrative agencies will continue to function.

4-Month Traffic Death Toll in U. S. Set at 11,630

CHICAGO (AP)—During the first four months of this year 11,630 persons were killed in traffic accidents, a record toll, the National Safety Council reported today.

This was 4 per cent more than the 11,160 counted at the end of April 1962 and 1 per cent above the old record of 11,516 in the first four months of 1956.

A 5 per cent increase in travel, however, made the death rate the same as that a year ago, 4.7 fatalities for every 100 million miles traveled.

In the proportion of traffic deaths for every 10,000 registered vehicles during the first four months of the year, Milwaukee ranked third in its population class (500,000 to 750,000) with 1.9. No other Wisconsin city was listed among the leaders.

Learn Cause Of Equipment Malfunction

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Expert scientific detective work has determined that troubles with an electrical amplifier caused the failures which forced astronaut Gordon Cooper to steer his spacecraft manually back to earth.

Moisture, perhaps from Cooper's perspiring, corroded a connection on the small electronic box called an Amp Cal—for amplifier calibration—and wiped out all spacecraft automatic controls down to a certain re-entry point.

An electrical short in an Amp Cal solder connection, probably because of faulty insulation, knocked out the remainder of the automatic re-entry controls and left Cooper on his own with the manual system.

The Amp Cal is designed to change electrical signals received from various spacecraft sensors, such as gyroscopes and infrared horizon scanners, into firing commands which ignite small jets in the capsule's automatic system.

The streams of hydrogen peroxide gas shooting from the jets maintain the spacecraft's proper position and angle in relation to the earth.

As Cooper whirled on the 19th of his 22 orbits two weeks ago, a green light labeled .05g suddenly flashed on and indicated erroneously that he might be re-entering the atmosphere early. Then two inverters which transform alternating to direct current to support certain automatic functions did not work.

Fishes for Crappies And Catches Muskie

MANTOWISH WATERS (AP)—A Racine fisherman who didn't intend to catch a muskie to begin with, and whose intentions were favored by all possible circumstances has boated one anyway. It was a 22 pound 6 ounce fish to boot.

Ben Epstein, owner of Deer Park Lodge, said that Joe Thome, was fishing for crappies with a 9-foot fly rod and a line with a 4-pound test leader when he hooked a good sized crappie just at dusk. While he was retrieving it, a muskie made several passes at the hooked fish, and finally seized it near the boat.

With guide Chuck Johnson offering advice, Thome battled the big fish with his light tackle for 1½ hours, while darkness fell, finally pulling in the 45½ inch fish.

Judge Turns Down Integration Plea

Warns Against Discrimination In Applying Placement Law

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—A federal judge refused today to order city schools desegregated, but he warned that a state pupil placement law must be applied without discrimination.

U.S. District Judge Seymour H. Lynne denied a requested injunction against school segregation. He ruled that Negro complainants in a 1960 suit had not exhausted remedies afforded by the 1956 statute which gives school boards wide authority in assigning pupils.

Hinging his decision on the law's validity, Lynne said if the statute is unconstitutionally applied, then he would be "compelled to order the submission of a desegregation plan."

Lynne has had two suits under consideration since last October.

The U.S. Supreme Court said Monday it will not tolerate avoidable delay in the carrying out of its 1955 order for all deliberate speed in school integration cases.

Both suits before Lynne requested injunctions barring the operation of segregated schools in Birmingham.

Suit Filed in 1960

The first suit was filed in June 1960 by the Rev. F. L. Shuttlesworth, James Armstrong and Vann English on behalf of their children. The second was brought in June 1962 by T. N. Nelson for his two children.

Nelson's suit said he made no request for transfer of his children to white schools under Alabama's pupil placement law because "the remedy there provided is inadequate."

His suit said the transfer of some Negro children to white schools would not achieve the "reorganization of the dual racial system."

Regained Sight Easter Morning

Miami Woman Enjoying World Of Color, Birds, Fruit and Animals

BY GENE PLOWDEN

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Bessie Sikes lives in a wonderful new world of color and happiness and an adhesion of her right leg — hope, of smiles and bright faces and green growing things.

This sprightly, cheerful woman had been blind for more than 50 years, due to an attack of meningitis when she was nine months old.

Suddenly, on Easter morning, a small fraction of her sight came back.

Now she is enjoying visits to some of the area's tourist attractions.

Friends took her to a tropical wildlife attraction recently.

"I saw the parrots and flamingos and goldfish — some must be a foot long — and even saw the monkeys and an alligator," she said.

She visited a fruit and space garden, too.

Colored Fruit

"Have you ever been there? I saw all the colored fruit."

"I even went swimming in the ocean at Crandon park. It was wonderful. Of course, I couldn't stay in the water long, on account of the glare on my eye, but I can stay in my apartment now without my dark glasses, you'll notice."

"What a great blessing it is just to be able to see the sky and flowers and all the colors," she said. "If I never get any more sight, I'll be perfectly happy with what I have. It's a wonderful, marvelous thing, just to be able to see."

Mother Deaf

Bessie's mother, who for many years operated a boarding house in Miami, was deaf and it was a touching companionship of mother and daughter until Mrs. Sikes died 19 years ago.

"She used to say I was her limits."

10 Escape Injury in Bus-Truck Accident

WATERTOWN (AP)—Ten passengers aboard a Greyhound bus escaped serious injury Monday when it was involved in a collision with a truck during a rain-storm.

The crash spoiled the 35-year accident-free record of the bus driver, Allen R. Foster, 61, of Wauwatosa.

Authorities said the bus, bound from Milwaukee to Madison, hit the rear of the truck as the second vehicle was making a left turn off rain-soaked Highway 19 just west of the Watertown city limits.

Biernat Case Probers Seek Taxi Driver

Want to Question Him About Events Before Slaying

KENOSHA (AP)—A taxi driver who disappeared the day before he was to take a lie detector test is being sought by authorities investigating the gang-style slaying of 46-year-old juke box distributor Anthony Biernat.

Sheriff Leland Chartier said Monday night the driver, a life-long resident of Kenosha, was to have taken a test at the sheriff's department on what he saw the night Biernat was abducted from the North Shore Line depot. But he failed to appear.

"We have heard not a word," the sheriff said.

Officials said the driver apparently was not an eyewitness to the abduction, but had given a statement on what he saw at the depot about 40 minutes before the time it was believed Biernat was attacked and forced into a car.

His statement was kept confidential by police.

The sheriff department's polygraph examiner, Russell Pinsonault, said the driver's appointment was made for April 30 by the sheriff's investigator William Schmitt, who was quoted as saying he wanted to check the accuracy of the statement.

Biernat was abducted on Jan. 7. Three weeks later his battered body was found in a shallow grave in an empty farm house on the abandoned Bong Air Force Base in western Kenosha County.

He called in associates to discuss the case.

He declines to talk with reporters about the case — a matter of ethics, he says — but he has checked Bessie's eye every two weeks, and has found no sign of glaucoma.

He told her lenses don't seem to help, and that it may be three to six months before the eye is completely adjusted to light. Vision in the eye is about two and one-half to three per cent.

"I wish all blind people could have two and one-half per cent," he said.

10 Per Cent

Any person with less than 10 per cent vision is considered legally blind.

The lens in Bessie's eye is loose and "floats around like a watermelon seed in a glass of water," the doctor said.

Three years ago Bessie injured her spine in a fall and was advised to take up dancing. She has lessons weekly at the lighthouse for the blind and has won several prizes, including a plaque for runnerup in a waltz contest.

Her dance instructor, Robert Parris, is teaching her colors. She has the most trouble with yellow, because there is not much contrast between it and white or gray.

Parris also reads her the scores of letters, cards and telegrams that have come to Bessie since her sight returned.

Miss Sikes hopes to answer all of them personally. She learned touch typing at the Florida school for the deaf and blind at St. Augustine, where she graduated. She won't tell her age, but she is in her late 50s.

"All the letters were very touching, very human, and I do appreciate every one of them," she said. "Some just expressed happiness for me. One woman said she cried when she read about me."

One writer enclosed a $1 bill as a keepsake, another offered $100 toward a travel fund for Bessie, so she could see the country; a third invited her to be a guest in her North Carolina home. One enclosed a supply of postage stamps.

"This was a true miracle — the second one that came to me," Bessie said. "The same person, who performed miracles 2,000 years ago is still doing it. If you don't believe it, ask my pastor."

State Woman Dies as Result of Crash

WINONA, Minn. (AP) — Mrs. Lucille Patison, 62, Buffalo City, Wis., died in a hospital Monday of injuries suffered in a car-train crash that took the lives of two other Wisconsin women.

Mrs. George Robinson, 75, and Mrs. William Robinson, 74, both of Buffalo City, were killed when a car carrying four women and a Milwaukee Road passenger train collided at a crossing near the Winona depot Thursday.

The fourth member of the party, Mrs. Luella Averbeck, 69, of rural Cochrane, Wis., was listed in fair to good condition Monday.

Jailer Goofts—Releases Prisoner Too Soon

EUREKA, Calif. (AP) — When jailer Tom MacDonald came around to Robert Winsor Robinson's cell in the Humboldt County jail on Sunday and said, "Your time's up. You can go now," he got a speedy response.

Robideau was dressed in an instant and checked out in the wink of an eye.

It wasn't until later in the day MacDonald recollected that the 25-year-old Yuroc Indian still had over four months to serve for his petty theft conviction. Robideau was sentenced on April 8 to serve 180 days.

Application Rejected

Shuttlesworth's children at tempted in 1959 to enroll in a white school, but they were rejected along with seven others. A school official said if the pupils wished to pursue their applications, the next step was to request a board hearing.

L. Fraser Banks, who was school superintendent at that time, said he felt a transfer of the children involved would not be in the best interest of the children involved. Pupil placement tests were given to two white women, Mrs. John Fuller and Mrs. L. W. Fiquett, said Monday they had met repeated failure in efforts to gain support for peaceful school desegregation.

Everybody is afraid to disagree that is absolutely fantastic," said Mrs. Fuller. "There are still too many people who are afraid to do anything active toward peaceful desegregation."

Mrs. Fiquett said a group she headed met once, then disbanded because of "so much opposition to the maintenance or severance of established social and time to handle current affairs, leaving major problems in abeyance.

In an interregnum, between the death of one Pope and the election of another, such a situation also exists.

ness. The chamberlain will serve as a sort of interim administrator.

Not less than 15 days after a Pope's death, and not more than 18, the cardinals must meet in secret conclave to elect a new pontiff.

The next conclave will meet under rules revised by Pope John last October—a month before he became seriously ill.

The next conclave will be the biggest ever, for Pope John enlarged the College of Cardinals. At present it has 20 Italian members and 53 of other nationalities.

Although the relative strength of the Italian group is smaller than it has been in centuries, it is likely that the next Pope will be Italian. There has not been a non-Italian pontiff since the Dutch-born Adrian VI elected in 1522.

Peter Lorre Injured

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor Peter Lorre, 58, escaped with only a nose bleed Monday when his car sideswiped a parked truck on Sunset Boulevard in the West Hollywood area, sheriff's deputies reported. He went to a private physician for treatment.

Secretary Rusk Voices Concern On Segregation

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk, usually concerned with international issues, expressed deep concern Monday about a domestic problem.

Speaking before a conference on foreign policy for non-governmental organizations, Rusk said:

"We ought all to recognize that this nation is now confronted with one of the gravest issues that we have had since 1865 and that this issue deeply affects the conduct of our foreign relations.

"I am speaking of course of the problems of discrimination."

Because of it, he said, the United States is racing communism "with one of our legs in a cast."

"Our voice is muted, our friends are embarrassed, our enemies are gleeful because we have not really put our hands fully and effectively to this problem at every level of our national life, beginning with the local community," said Rusk.

Mountaineers Won't Lose Toes

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP) — A doctor has ruled out amputation at this time of the frostbitten toes of two Mt. Everest conquerors.

"It cannot be determined yet if there is permanent injury," Dr. Robert Berry of Alden, Pa., said Monday after examining William Unsold, 36, of Corvallis, Ore., and Barry C. Bishop, 30, of Washington D.C.

A helicopter brought them to a hospital here for emergency treatment of badly frostbitten toes and frost-blackened fingertips suffered in 18-below-zero weather during a night without shelter 1,000 feet from the summit of the 29,028-foot mountain.

Hawaiian Stamp Sold For Record $41,000

NEW YORK (AP)—A two-cent Hawaiian stamp was sold Monday night for $41,000—said to be a record for a single stamp sold at auction.

The stamp, issued in 1851 for use mainly by missionaries, is the only known copy of this particular stamp which had not gone through the mails.

H. R. Hammer, Inc., which sold the stamp, said its price broke a record of almost 40 years. The top previous price, the firm said, was $32,900 for a one-cent 1856 British Guiana stamp.

The Hawaiian stamp was from the collection of the late Maurice Burrows of Lausanne. It was bought by Raymond Weill, a professional philatelist from New Orleans.

George Watson Will Retire From State Educational Scene in June

Neenah Native, Professor at UW-M, Served 12 Years as Head of Public Instruction

MILWAUKEE — For the second time in two years, George E. Watson, a native of Neenah, is retiring from a significant position in the educational picture of the state of Wisconsin.

Now a professor of education and special assistant to the provost at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee, after 12 years as state superintendent of public instruction, Watson will retire in June. His plans are indefinite.

A major concern of Watson during his two years in Milwaukee has been helping UW-M increase its effectiveness in assisting schools in the area. Fellow professors and administrators are unanimous in their assessment that he has been instrumental in the close relationships which now exist.

George E. Watson

Rich Career

Watson's rich career—together with his sly humor and forensic ability—have served to put him in great demand as a speaker before school and other groups. First rate as a public speaker, Watson is at least as delightful to observe in action in group situations. When he was an ex-officio member of the University of Wisconsin Board of Regents, as well as other educational boards in the state, observers marveled at his quick grasp of fundamental issues, his shrewd sense of humor and his pointed, yet invariably diplomatic expressiveness.

When he retired from the state superintendency after three elected terms, he was characterized by the press as a "smart politician" and "a driving force at the state level in school district reorganization." His role in the great Wisconsin movement to consolidate school districts (from 6,273 in 1949 to 2,000 in 1961) was not that of arbitrary administrator, "but as one who had to work with local interests so that reorganization became evolution rather than revolution."

Watson's solid background as an expert in educational affairs began in Winnebago and Taylor County grade schools after his

Pledge of Allegiance Law Signed

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — After more than two years of quarrelsome debate the state's policy - makers have decided that the pledge of allegiance shall be offered in all of the schools of the state on a regular once a week basis.

The new state law became effective today, after Gov. John W. Nelson on his advice vetoed the measure after it was endorsed in of both legislative houses.

This year the Legislative Council, brought in an identical bill, but it was amended in the assembly to provide that any child public schools.

Reynolds two years without comment notified the legislature that he had signed the enactment.

Reynolds two years ago as attorney general had ruled that a compulsory pledge would be unconstitutional and Gov. Gaylord Nelson on his advice vetoed the measure after it was endorsed in of both legislative houses.

This year the Legislative Council, brought in an identical bill, but it was amended in the assembly to provide that any child public schools.

Dairy Queen Test Chairmar. Named For Calumet County

Johnson Faces Two Possible Decisions

Must Decide if He Will Seek 11th Term, Battle Area

BY RICHARD P. POWERS

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Wisconsin legislature has given Rep. Lester Johnson, a Democrat, two possible decisions to make.

The first is whether to seek re-election and, if he does, what district he will choose in which to make the race.

Johnson, 61, now serving his 10th year in the House, says his intention right now is to try for another term.

But, he said he is undecided at present, and will not know for some time, in which district to make the try.

The Legislature, in a redistricting the state on the basis of the 1960 census, put five of Johnson's present counties in to Rep. Alvin E. O'Konski's district, five into Rep. Vernon W. Thomson's and one into that of Rep. Melvin R. Laird. All three are Republicans.

The choice for Johnson actually is whether to oppose O'Konski or Thomson. Although each received five of Johnson's counties, the bulk of Johnson's old district, on a population basis, went to O'Konski's district.

1960 Count

Wisconsin did not gain or lose a Congressional seat as a result of the 1960 count but the Legislature rearranged the districts to make them more even in population.

If Johnson makes the race for re-election and fails, he likely will receive an appointment to a federal office if President Kennedy is returned to the White House for a second term.

Under normal conditions, Johnson's prospects for such an appointment would be considerably less if he decided not to seek re-election.

Johnson's home town is Black River Falls, which will be a part of Thomson's district under the realignment, but that would not prevent his running against O'Konski if he chose.

Johnson came to Congress originally by winning a special election after the death of Rep. Merlin Hull, a Republican. At the end of his present term, Johnson will have served 11 years and three months in the House.

Rep. Clement Zablocki, D-Wis., has recommended Johnson to the Justice Department for appointment to the U. S. District Court bench as a successor to the late Judge Patrick T. Stone of Madison.

Johnson said he has heard nothing in this connection.

Wisconsin farmers pocketed $196,227,000 in cash receipts from farm marketing in the first two months of this year, a drop of $9,236,000 from the comparative two-month total in 1962, the Agriculture Department reports.

Most of the reduction was in livestock and livestock products. The $196,227,000 was divided between $176,406,000 from livestock and products and $19,821,000 from crops. The first two months of 1962 brought them $185,249,000 from livestock and products and $20,214,000 from crops.

Afghanistan, Peking Seek Treaty on Border

TOKYO (AP)—Foreign Minister Chen Yi of Communist China said Monday night that Afghanistan and Red China will soon hold talks in Kabul aimed at concluding a border treaty, the New China News Agency reported. The two countries have about 20 miles of common border, north of Kashmir.

bill also has support of the state AFL-CIO unions.

The Senate passed a bill to retain clerical help of legislative leaders during the summer recess. It killed a measure to continue the State Mental Health Advisory Committee.

Other bills passed by the Assembly would:

Revise state laws on drainage districts.

Damage Suits

Grant immunity from damage suits to owners of buildings used as public defense shelters.

Permit collection of five percent of contract price as penalty when buyer of an auto refuses to accept delivery.

Appropriate $35,000 to manufacture "the world's largest cheese" for display at the New York World's Fair and to advertise

Wisconsin's dairy, recreational and tourist industries.

Bills killed by the Assembly would have:

Required wage payments every two weeks for railroad, express and airline employees instead of twice a month.

Permitted court termination of parental rights when parents are insane, minors or neglect their children.

Gov. Reynolds notified the Assembly that he has signed a bill which requires public and private elementary schools to offer the pledge of allegiance at least once a week. The pledge is to be voluntary on part of the pupils.

New London Man Kills Self

Richard Neilson Died Today From Gunshot Wound

NEW LONDON — Richard Neilson, 23, 1102½ Division St., died early today at New London Community Hospital from a self-inflicted bullet wound.

Neilson shot himself in the head with a .22 caliber pistol shortly before 1 a.m. Sunday after a family argument, police said. Outagamie County Coroner Bernard Kemps said death was due to lodging of the bullet in the brain.

Mrs. Neilson told police she took the couple's nine-month-old child to an adjoining apartment during the quarrel. She said she heard a gunshot and called police.

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Thursday at Kircher Funeral Home with burial in the Danish Cemetery in the Town of Deer Creek.

Transplant of Liver Fails to Save Man

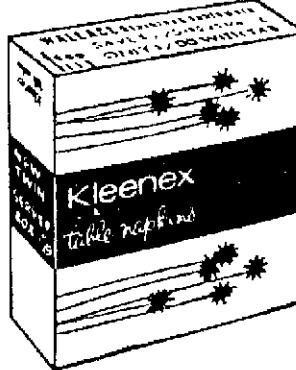

DENVER (AP)—William Grigsby, 47, a janitor, died Monday night, 22 days after he received the liver of a dead man in a rare transplant operation.

Physicians said Grigsby contracted pneumonia Sunday but the exact cause of death has not been determined.

Grigsby, who had cancer of the liver, received X-ray treatments and drugs to aid his body in accepting the substitute organ.

Reactions Mixed on Report of Free Legal Service in Port Fight

Winnebago County DA Assures Fond du Lac Legal Assistance

A published report that a rank-and-file member of the Winnebago County official re- sents the Fond du Lac Chamber of Commerce "free" services of a Washington attorney and it would oppose Outagamie County's bid for regional airport certification has triggered mixed reactions.

The report, denied by some persons, and confirmed by others, ap- peared in Saturday's edition of the Fond du Lac Commonwealth Reporter which gave an account of a meeting held in that city last Thursday night with Chamber of Commerce and Fond du Lac city officials in attendance.

The story said in part: "A com- munication from Jack D. Stein- hilber, district attorney for Win- nebag County, offered free the services of Robert C. Lester, air- port attorney and counsel of Washington, D. C., who has been retained to represent Winnebago county at the Wausau hearings."

Petition CAB

The meeting, called by the Fond du Lac Chamber's air service committee, was held at the Cham- ber office. However, the Common- wealth Reporter did not have a reporter present and later re- ceived the report on the results of the meeting from R. W. Mills, executive secretary of the Fond du Lac Chamber.

As result of the meeting, the air service committee decided to petition the Civil Aeronautics Commission (CAB) for the privi- lege of intervening in the Osh- kosh - Appleton airport investiga- tion.

The CAB will hold a hearing service" was incorrect, as it ap- in Wausau July 9 to take testimonwealth Reporter. He acknow- edged, however, that his organiza- tion had no available funds to obtain special counsel to intervene in the Oshkosh - Appleton case and would rely on the services of Atty. Lester. Mills said that prior to contacting Steinhilber, he had been in touch with Lester on the approaching CAB hearings.

Mills explained he originally wrote to Steinhilber and requested information from the Winnebago County official as to the steps to be taken by Fond du Lac to in- tervene.

"Back Travel"

He said the Association of Com- merce committee went on record favoring the Oshkosh airport as the best regional facility, and pointed out the selection of Apple- ton would cause air passengers from Fond du Lac to travel an additional 32 miles of "back" travel because most air travel from Fond du Lac is southbound.

Mills said he received assur- ance that Winnebago County's Washington legal counsel would represent the Fond du Lac Cham- ber without charge.

Although not reported, it was learned today Fond du Lac Cham- ber officials attempted to have City Manager Robert McManus and the members of the Fond du Lac County Airport Committee agree to signing the intervening petition, favoring the Oshkosh port and opposing Appleton's.

"Under Pressure"

McManus indicated he favored the plan but would not sign and referred the matter to the Fond du Lac common council for dis- cussion next week.

Earl Adams, North Fond du Lac, chairman of the county air- port committee, indicated his group had been "under pressure" from the Chamber in recent months to sign the petition favor- ing the Winnebago County port.

Reached at Solon Springs where he is vacationing, Adams said, "I have steadily refused to sign the petition and we on the committee feel we should not do anything like this until the county board takes official action."

Board's Decision

Adams said the airport commit- tee probably would recommend the Oshkosh port as the regional airport, but emphasized the final decision would be up to the coun- ty board at its June 25 meeting.

Adams said at that time a resolu- tion would be introduced to de- termine whether the board favor- ed Appleton, Oshkosh or Green Bay as a regional facility.

At least two other county offi- cials, along with Adams, inter- preted from Steinhilber's letter and explanations made by Mills and other Chamber officials that the legal services of Atty. Lester would be provided through Win- nebag County without charge.

"It apparently (Lester's serv- ices) is not going to cost us any- thing," commented Robert McIntosch, an airport committee mem- ber.

In his letter of reply to Mills, Steinhilber said he was happy to hear of Fond du Lac's interest in the CAB proceedings.

"We in Winnebago County, of course, were gratified with your participation in last October's hearing in Appleton regarding Outagamie County's petition to the State Aeronautics Commission for state and federal aid," Stein- hilber wrote.

"As you know, the state has de- clined to grant the petition for aid and has postponed further consid- eration of it pending the outcome of the North Central service hear- ing," he added.

Steinhilber noted that Lester, with whom Fond du Lac officials had made contact, was represent- ing Winnebago County in the CAB investigation.

"We believe Fond du Lac Coun- ty's participation would be most helpful in establishing the fact that the Winnebago County air- port can best serve as a regional facility for this area," he said.

"To expedite such participation, the procedure to follow would be for the Fond du Lac Chamber of Commerce, the city and the coun- ty, or both, to file a petition to intervene in this proceedings," Steinhilber continued.

"Mr. Les- ter, upon your request, will for- ward you the necessary forms after which you can take appro- priate action."

Steinhilber thanked the Fond du Lac Chamber for its past assist- ance.

Fond du Lac has an industrial- airline feeder type airport and re- cently received state and federal aid to lengthen the north-south runway.

Town Seeks Bids for Sanitary Sewer Work

Officials Will Receive Offers During First Two Weeks of June

MENASHA — Board members of the Town of Menasha Mon- day night announced they will seek bids beginning next week on sanitary sewers extensions to be constructed in the town.

Specifications for the project are expected to be complete by June 1.

Bids will be advertised for dur- ing the first and second weeks of June, with the opening and tabulation set for the third week of June.

Five bids will be sought.

They will include sanitary sewer work for the following:

Unit one — Suburban Heights, Crestview, Hopfensberger and Grove Streets.

Unit Two — Tayco Street, Lake Shore Drive up to Midway Road; Butte des Morts Place subdivi- sion and Butte des Morts Heights.

Unit Three — Palisades, Bald- win Heights, Knorr's Woods.

Unit four — Valley Road ex- tension.

Unit five — Hillcrest subdivi- sion.

New Lot Size Law Proposed

Plan Commission Asks Minimum Rule In Residential Areas

All new residential platings would call for a minimum lot frontage of 50 feet and area of 6,000 square feet under terms of a recommendation made Monday by the Appleton Plan Commis- sion.

Meeting at city hall, the group took action to standardize lot sizes in the city. It urged the com- mon council to approve the mini- mum lot size ordinance at its next meeting.

At present, the normal lot front- age is about 60 feet and 5,000 square feet is the minimum area required for residential areas.

In the second precinct of the city's Ninth Ward, which is Calumet County, the minimum lot requirement is 60 foot frontage and 7,200 square feet.

The ordinance drawn up and ap- proved by the plan commission would apply to all new platings within the corporate area of the city, including the Calumet Coun- ty portion.

Climaxing several weeks of de- liberations, the commission also recommended for adoption a new sub-division control ordinance for the city, which is modeled after that recommended by the Fox Valley Regional Planning Com- mission. The ordinance was re- ferred to the council's welfare- ordinance committee for study and a recommendation.

Town Okays Ordinance On Plumbing

MENASHA — Board members of the Town of Menasha Monday night unanimously approved pas- sage of an ordinance governing the construction, installation and inspection of plumbing in the town and considered hiring of an assistant plumbing inspector. No action was taken on the latter.

Incorporated into the ordinance were provisions and regulations found in the state plumbing code issued by the Wisconsin Board of health. No plumbing can be in- stalled, altered or repaired in the town under the new ordinance un- less it meets the provisions set down in it and is inspected by the plumbing inspector.

The ordinance automatically creates the office of plumbing su- pervisor. The supervisor must be a practical plumber, skilled sani- tarian or competent person fa- miliar with plumbing, according to the ordinance. He will be ap- pointed by the town board for a term of two years.

Under the ordinance, no per- son, firm or corporation can do any plumbing in the town with- out first filing an application and receiving a permit from the plumbing supervisor.

Repairs involving only the working parts of a faucet or valve, the clearance of stoppages, repairing of leaks or replacement of defective faucets or valves may be made without a permit provided no changes are made in the piping to the fixtures.

The following fees will be charged for permits:

Each system of private sewage disposal, $10.

Each private water system or well, $5.

Each plumbing fixture or water connected appliance, $1.

Each connection to a main sewer, $5.

Each water system connected to a municipal system, $5.

The minimum fee for any per- mit, $2.

Each extra inspection required to inspect connections, $5.

If a new building is occupied before a final inspection has been made, an additional $10 must be paid by the permit holder. If any plumbing work is accomplished prior to the insurance of a per- mit, the permit fee will be dou- bled.

VNA Mothers' Class

NEENAH — Visiting Nurse Association mothers' class will be held at 2 p.m. Wednesday rather than the usual Thursday. Topic any plumbing in the town with- out first filing an application and receiving a permit from the plumbing supervisor.

George C. Scott and Kirk Douglas have important roles in the mystery drama, "The List of Adrian Messenger," opening in Hollywood Premiere fashion at the Viking Theater Wednesday. The film directed by John Huston is an unusual one in that it has mystery elements in both story and cast. Such celebrities as Frank Sinatra, Robert Mitchum, Burt Lancaster and Tony Curtis as well as Douglas appear in character disguises to challenge the audience in identifying them.

Fox Cities 'Movie Stars'

Mystery Film to Have Hollywood Premiere

(GEORGE C. SCOTT) N Appleton will be the scene of a fun Hollywood Premiere Wednesday night with a cavalcade of nine "movie stars" riding down College Avenue at 3 p.m. in shiny new cars, a band to greet them and a radio announcer to introduce each one as he or she enters the lobby of the Viking Theater.

The event is the opening of the mystery drama, "The List of Adrian Messenger," chosen by the Theater Owners of America for a simultaneous special preview engagements across the nation. Viking Manager Wayne B. Berkley has added the glamor touch of the premiere in honor of the 21st anniversary year of his theater.

"Mystery Stars" Fox Cities area residents will portray the movie stars. Four are in the "look-alike" class because of their physical resemblance to the film luminaries they will represent — Doris Day, Elizabeth Taylor, Elvis Presley and Red Skelton.

The other five "stars" are Fox Valley thespians who will be dressed and made up exactly as the five mystery stars playing character roles in "The List of Adrian Messenger."

The premiere festivities will follow the pattern of the real thing in Hollywood. The nine proxy stars will leave Lawrence Music-Drama Center at 8 p.m., each "star" in his own chauffeured car. As the cavalcade approaches the theater, the Pep Band of St. Mary High School, Menasha, will give them a musical fanfare of welcome.

Accident Third at U. S. 10, CTH A in Month; Man Unhurt

An Appleton man escaped without injury Monday night but his car was damaged in the third automobile accident reported at County Trunk A and U.S. 10 this month.

County police said Richard E. Miller, 26, 1011 S. Mason St., going south on A crossed the intersection with U. S. 10 and went over an embankment and came to rest against a steam engine.

Two weeks ago a motorist was killed when his car went through the intersection and hit the embankment. Saturday night one person was injured and another escaped injury when their car struck the embankment.

County Traffic Capt. Ronald Decker said no extra precautions are planned for the intersection in light of the recent traffic mishaps there. He said there has been no problem at the intersection until very recently.

Decker said, however, the county may install larger arterial signs at the intersection facing traffic coming south on A.

Reach Agreement On Finance Director

Appleton Council Committees Discuss Qualifications, Duties

Agreement was reached by two of the leading proponents of having common council committees Monday the city establish the new day night on the qualifications finance department.

and duties of finance director, a position to be created by the City of Appleton within a few months.

The joint session of the finance and personnel committees was amicable.

The common council has indicated informally it will hire a finance director but requested the committees to finalize a recommendation encompassing the qualifications, duties and salary.

City Clerk Elden Broehm also serves as city controller. The functions of the latter position would be assumed by a finance director, in addition to other duties specified by the common council.

Centralized Purchasing

Aldermen made one thing clear during their two-hour meeting at city hall — eventually a centralized purchasing system is going to be established and the board of education and other boards and agencies will be requested to co-operate with the program. The finance director would be the city's purchasing agent.

The joint committee recommended that desirable training and experience for a finance director consist of graduation from a college or university with a major in accounting and finance, or graduation from high school supplemented by business college training.

Also, five or more years of experience involving accounting and purchasing work, a part of which has involved supervisory responsibility. Experience in a governmental agency also would be preferred. It was emphasized these would be "desirable qualifications."

Salary Range

The joint committee will set a salary range for the proposed new governmental position at a future meeting.

Examinations will be given all candidates for the position by the State Bureau of Personnel.

Ald. Alvin Tews (5th) suggested the head of the new department be designated as director of budget and purchases. "The title would cover all the functions to be performed," Tews said. He insisted the city eventually adopt a centralized purchasing program, emphasizing it be for "all boards and agencies."

"I think that at some future time when the finance department really has something to offer, it should take over the school board's accounting, too," suggested Ald. Fred Ziemann (6th), one with department heads in preparing the annual city budget, eventually serve as the city's purchasing agent and prepare long range financial plans and prepare reports as requested by the common council.

It was stressed that the common council would be the policy-making body when it came to finances and appropriations.

The committees will meet again June 3 to finalize a recommendation for the council's consideration.

Waupaca '9' in Sectional After Downing Kimberly, 5-3

Comets Score 4 Big Runs In Second Inning for Win

KIMBERLY — A big 4-run second inning enabled Waupaca to place Vanden Boogaard and shut out Kimberly in the sectional tournament at Neenah with a 5-3 victory here Monday afternoon.

The Comets tallied a single, a double, a triple and a home run in the second for four runs on four hits and a sacrifice fly.

Kimberly scored twice in the bottom of the second on doubles by Jim Rennebohm and Keith Buchberger and a single by Art Wittman.

The Papermakers scored again in the seventh on Lee Lecknecht's triple and Rennebohm's single but failed to hit in the eighth.

Eleven runners were stranded on base as the Papermakers threatened in every inning. They left the sacks jammed in the third and had two men on in the first and fifth frames.

Gary Johanknecht opened with a single and Oscar Reyes followed with another. Roger Green smashed a drive off the foot of Kimberly starter Jim Vanden Boogaard and Johanknecht scored as the ball rolled almost to the Kimberly dugout.

Steve Bull Fires 5-Under-Par in Qualifying Round

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Racine's Steve Bull set a blazing pace, going 5-under-par in leading the field Monday in the Wisconsin sectional qualifying round for the U.S. Open Golf Tournament.

Bull, Lief Larson of Caledonia and Trevor Williams of Milwaukee will represent the state in the regional round in Chicago next month.

Bobby Brue, Hervey Thompson and Tom Schlamm, all of Milwaukee, won the alternate berths.

Bull had rounds of 68 and 69 for a 137 at Tripoli Country Club, a par 71-71-142 layout. Bull had four birdies and one bogey in the morning round.

Larson finished 1-over with a 74-69-143. Williams was a stroke behind at 73-71-144.

Brue, a touring pro, had rounds of 73 and 72 for a 145 and was tied at the end of 36 holes by Thompson on rounds of 71-74. Thompson took the first alternate spot by beating Brue on the second extra hole of a playoff with a birdie four. Brue became the second alternate.

Schlamm won his alternate berth by beating Howie Kluth of Milwaukee and Ralph Parker of Madison in a playoff after they had tied at 147. A birdie four on the second extra hole turned the trick for Schlamm.

'T' League To be Formed By the ARD

The Appleton Recreation department plans to organize its first "T" baseball league this summer.

The league is designed for 7- and 8-year-old boys. The game is called "T" ball because the boys hit the ball off a large batting tee. The pitcher does not throw the ball but fields his position.

After the ball is hit from the tee, regular baseball rules must apply. An exception is that there is a limit to the length of innings. A team can score no more than six runs in an inning or can bat around no more than once. If either of these things happens before the third out is accomplished, the inning is over.

Entries must be submitted by next Monday. The league is scheduled to begin play the week of June 17. Entry blanks can be picked up at schools or at the ARD office.

Badger Crew Outrows Navy

Wisconsin Pulls Away for 2 1/2 Length Victory

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — Wisconsin outrowed the Navy Monday, pulling away at the half-mile mark and stretching out to beat the Midshipmen by two and one-half lengths in a crew race on the Severn River.

The Badgers covered the smooth mile and three-quarter course in 9 minutes 35.4 seconds. Navy was timed at 9:45.1.

Wisconsin had beaten Purdue in a duel meet. Dartmouth and M.I.T. in a triangular and was fifth in the Eastern Springs. Navy has not won in five starts.

Navy started at 43 strokes to 39 for Wisconsin and took a brief early lead. After both crews slackened to 32 strokes, Wisconsin took a half-boat lead, and while understrking Navy for the body of the race, the Badgers maintained a narrow lead before making their bid.

Wisconsin, stroked by senior Bernard Losching of Jamesville, Wis., opened up with a half-mile left and had open water before going into the final quarter-mile. Wisconsin finished at 35 strokes and Navy at 36.

The Wisconsin boat was bow, Tom Willett; 2, Vic Johnson; 3, Marvin Utech; 4, Allan Heggholm; 5, Benlon Logterman; 6, Tom Kroncke; 7, Doug Reiner; stroke, Losching, and coxswain, Larry Hurwitz.

Former Brave Hurler Dave Jolly Dead at Age of 38

STATESVILLE, N.C. (AP) — Former major leaguer Dave Jolly, who was a relief pitcher for the Milwaukee Braves for five years, died at a Veterans Hospital in Durham Monday. Doctors said he had a brain tumor.

Jolly, 38, a native of Stony Point, 11 miles west of here, gave up baseball last year after a five-year swing through the minors. He had a lifetime record of 16-14 as a major league pitcher.

Funeral services are tentatively planned for Wednesday afternoon at Stony Point Baptist Church.

Stops Stockbridge, 8-0

Dave Reamer Hurls No-Hitter

NEENAH — Dave Reamer hurling a no-hitter here Monday afternoon as he led Oshkosh into WIAA Sectional Tournament play with an 8-0 victory over Stockbridge.

Reamer, a left hander, fanned 13 batters and walked only two in chalking up his fifth victory in six decisions.

He received all the runs he needed in the very first inning when the winners scored five markers on two walks, two doubles, and a triple. Roger Beck had the three-bagger and Bill Tull when it had men on first and second but couldn't score.

Sophomore Tom Schoen was the victim of the early uprising and left after he retired only one batter. His brother, Gib, replaced him and went the remaining distance. Both of the Schoen brothers hurled no-hitters earlier this spring.

Stockbridge's only serious threat came in the second inning.

ARD Baseball Entries Must be in Monday

Foxes Move to Rapids After Rain Washes Out Game in Second Inning

3-Game Series to Include Afternoon Contest Thursday

A continuous drizzling rain saved the Fox Cities Foxes from an apparent defeat here Monday night as the umpires called a halt after Wisconsin Rapids had gained a 3-0 lead in the top half of the second inning.

Paul Campbell was the Foxes' starter and was tagged for four hits in 1 1-3 innings. Senator starter Ron Johnson, a former University of Illinois star, gave up two blows to the Foxes in the first inning but a snappy double play got him out of trouble.

Foxes move to Wisconsin Rapids tonight to begin a 3-game set ending with a doubleheader on Memorial Day afternoon. The Thursday contest is slated to start at 2 p.m.

Radatz, Conley Return to Duty With Red Sox

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Red Sox regained the services of ailing pitchers Dick Radatz and Gene Conley Monday on the eve of their big three game series with the New York Yankees opening Tuesday night.

Both hurlers, idled by a virus, worked out at Fenway Park.

Are relief artist Radatz was pronounced recovered although he has lost weight. In his absence, Jack Lamata has had to appear in seven of the last eight Sox contests.

Starter Conley, who missed a turn, was reinstated in the rotation by Manager Johnny Pesky. Conley is scheduled to face the Yanks Thursday afternoon after Bill Monbouquette and Earl Wilson work the night games.

Wilson, hit hard in two straight games, took an intensive running workout.

First baseman Dick Stuart returns to the regular line-up after a three-game absence.

Milwaukee Trading Prospects Are Dim

Lemaster to Face Koufax Tonight

MILWAUKEE (AP) — If Milwaukee's eighth-place Braves are going to get any help this season, it apparently will have to be the do-it-yourself variety.

While the team was idle Monday club president John McHale and Manager Bobby Bragan spent a good part of the day talking with their minor league affiliates in a search for a player in the organization who can help.

The unsuccessful search was required by dim trading prospects.

"I'm not at all confident a deal will be made even by the June 15 trading deadline," McHale said. "There is no immediate prospect of one."

"We still want an established hitter, one who will help us get some runs," McHale continued, "but that type just doesn't appear to be on the market. I have been in contact with most of the clubs in our league without any success and I am not sure things will get any better in the next three weeks."

Some Prospects

McHale said there are some prospects on the farms but most of them need the work they will get there and there is no assurance they would help us right now.

"What we're striving for right now is more balance on the bench, more right-handed punch. We've been too easy for southpaw pitchers." The Braves have won only three of 13 decisions with left-handers.

And they will face another, one of the best in the league, when they open a three-game series tonight with the Los Angeles Dodgers, who will start Sandy Koufax. The Dodger lefty recently pitched a no-hitter against the San Francisco Giants.

The Braves also have one of the top left-handers, on the basis of up to date statistics, He's Denny Lemaster, who will oppose Koufax tonight.

Lemaster's earned run average of 1.50 is topped in the National League only by the Cubs' Dick Ellsworth with a .09 mark. Both their marks are better than anything in the American League.

Lemaster, who only recently was assigned a starting role, has allowed only 11 runs, eight of them earned, in 48 innings in 16 games. By contrast, Koufax, fourth on the list, has a 1.85 ERA on 14 earned runs in 69 innings in nine games.

Confined to Bench

It appeared that second baseman Frank Bolling and outfielder Mack Jones will be confined to the bench for a few days with injuries. Bolling chipped a finger bone on his right hand in practice Sunday when Jones was hit on the wrist by a pitch.

In the event Bolling is not able to play, Denis Menke will move to second, Eddie Mathews will be at third, instead of left, and Roy McMillan will be at short. Bragan had planned to use McMillan, returning to the lineup after recovering from a chest bruise, at his regular position, shifting Menke to third and Mathews to the outfield.

Bubba Morton probably will be the choice in left.

Adler Brau Golf Tourney Set at Bridgewood Club

June 12 Is Deadline for Entries; Strutz to Defend

The ninth annual Adler Brau golf tournament will be staged June 12-13 on Neenah's Bridgewood course, according to Laymon (Doc) Wonsner, tourney director.

Appleton's Don Strutz will defend the championship he won last year. Neenah's Tom Hadley, the 1961 champion, has also submitted his entry.

The entry deadline is midnight, June 12. Play will be in five flights: championship, A, B, senior championship (over age 50) and senior A.

The tourney is open to all amateur golfers. The entry fee is $7 (including greens fee). Entries should be mailed to Wonsner, Box 2, Neenah.

Last year's A flight champion was Elkhart Lake's Brian Wiese (with 162). Other winners were: B Appleton's John Young (165); Senior championship, Neenah's Rich O'Brien (150); and Senior A, Appleton's Jack Sealy (177).

Other early 1963 entrants include Jerry Kramer, "Fuzzy" Thurston, and Boyd Dowler, of the Green Bay Packers; and John Symank, of the New York Giants.

This is the first year that the tournament will be contested at a course other than Reid Municipal.

Lema Wins Memphis Open On Extra Hole

$9,000 Winnings Put Him in Second Place As Money Winner

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — "I didn't think I had a chance," said Tony Lema after he won the $50,000 Memphis Open Golf tournament Monday as a belated wedding present for his recent bride.

The lanky San Leandro, Calif. veteran picked $9,000 after winning in a sudden death playoff with Tommy Aaron of Gainesville, Ga., who earned $4,600.

The victory put Lema in second place in total winnings this year behind Jack Nicklaus, who won $14,000 in this tournament for 11th place.

Lema won on the first hole of the playoff with a par four in Aaron's bogey. The two had ended the regulation 72 holes deadlocked at 10-under-par 270.

With Aaron leading by two strokes after 16 holes, Lema tied it up with two straight birdies. The first came when a tee shot fell near the pin on the par three 17th. The clincher followed when he reached the green of the 500-yard 18th in two strokes.

Sprayed Tee Shots

Both sprayed their tee shots on the playoff hole. Lema's second shot hit the fringe of the green and he was down in two. Aaron's also hit the fringe but his next one went over the green into a sand trap.

The playoff was the fourth in the tournament's six years. Lionel Hebert of Lafayette, La., won last year in a playoff with South Africa's Gary Player and Gene Littler of Rancho Bernardo, Calif. It was the first tournament victory.

Dick Ellsworth, Pappas Boast Best ERA Marks

Braves' LeMaster Ranks Second With 1.50 Average

NEW YORK (AP)—Dick Ellsworth of the Chicago Cubs and Milt Pappas of the Baltimore Orioles boast the lowest earned run averages in the major leagues.

Statistics compiled by The Associated Press showed Monday that Ellsworth tops the National League ERA listings with a 1.09 mark. Pappas is the American League leader with a 1.59 average. Figures are based on pitchers who have worked a minimum of 45 innings.

Ellsworth has allowed eight earned runs in 66 innings while winning five games and losing three. The 23-year-old southpaw posted a 5.08 eared run average last season.

Donner LeMaster of Milwaukee ranks second in the National League with a 1.50 ERA on eight earned runs in 48 innings. Pittsburgh's Don Schwall is third at 1.62. He has yielded nine earned runs in 50 frames.

Sandy Koufax of Los Angeles, the earned run leader in 1962 with a 2.54 average, stands fourth at 1.85. He has given up 14 tallies in 68 innings.

Pappas has allowed nine earned runs in 51 innings. The 24-year-old right-hander has posted a 4-0 won-lost record and two of his four complete games have been shutouts. His ERA in 1962 was 4.04.

Juan Pizarro of the Chicago White Sox is runner-up to Pappas with 2.25. Working 60 innings, he has been charged with 15 earned runs.

Baltimore's Steve Barber is right on Pizarro's heels at 2.27, followed by Jim Bouton of the New York Yankees in fourth place with 2.29.

Hank Aguirre of Detroit, the American League leader last season with 2.21, is far down the listings this year at 3.77.

An earned run average is determined by multiplying a pitcher's earned runs by nine and dividing the result by his innings pitched.

tory for Lema since the Mobile Open last November and the third official win of his five years on the Tour.

Following the tradition he set last year, Lema proudly served champagne in the pressroom.

"I didn't think I had a chance, really," he confided. "I didn't think I could make the 18th green in two. This was the first time I made it."

Final Round

"I don't think I've ever won a playoff, anywhere," was Aaron's comment. Lema and Aaron entered the final round deadlocked for second place at 202. They each scored 68's on the last 18 holes. Lema's card was 67-67-68-68. Aaron's was 69-67-6-68.

Harold Kneese of Aiken, S.C., was ahead briefly after the third round, played Monday morning, with a 201. He finished in a tie for third with Bruce Crampton of Sydney, Australia at 274.

Player was fourth with a 275. Little, who tied a tournament record with a 36 in the morning round, finished in a tie at 276 with Dow Finterswald of Tequesta, Fla., and George Bayer of South Pasadena, Calif.

The double round Monday was forced by heavy rains which cancelled play Saturday and Sunday.

Waterloo Tips Raiders, 4-3, In MW League

Third baseman Bob Montgomery slammed a solo home run in the sixth inning to provide the winning margin for Waterloo over Cedar Rapids Monday night in the Midwest League.

The Hawks won, 4-3, with Bruce Malchow getting the mound victory but he needed help from Gene King in the eighth.

Quad Cities downed cellar-dwelling Quincy, 9-5, in the only other game played in the circuit. The Decatur at Clinton and Burlington at Dubuque contests were postponed due to the weather.

Bill Aims to Ban Photos Of Inmates

Measure Is GOP Answer to Gov. Reynolds' Budget Film

MADISON (AP) — Senate Republicans pushed through a bill Monday aimed at restricting use of photographs that show inmates of welfare and penal institutions.

The bill is the GOP answer to Gov. John W. Reynolds' use of movies taken at state institutions to illustrate his budget requests. It now goes to the Assembly.

In a lengthy evening session, Assembly Republicans got preliminary approval of a bill to divorce the Bureau of Personnel from the Department of Administration but were unable to get the two-thirds vote needed to suspend rules and pass it immediately.

Senate debate on the picture ban revolved around Republican claims that Reynolds use of moving pictures was an effort to "stir emotional support for his record budget," Sen. Clifford Krueger, R-Merrill, said it is "common decency" to hide identity of institutional inmates, as the bill requires.

Ultimate passage of the bill to create a separate personnel department is a goal of Republicans this session, although it faces a veto by the Governor.

Assemblyman Curtis McKay, R-Mequn, said that there has been no corruption under the present set up but that pressure has been exerted on the personnel bureau.

He charged that Commissioner of Administration Howard Koop has refused to grant a salary merit increase to C. K. Wetten, personnel director. Either Koop or Gov. Reynolds told the personnel board chairman, John Shiels of Madison, not to appear at a Senate hearing on the bill, he added.

Pay Hikes

Assemblyman Robert Huber, D-West Allis, called the bill an example of Republican opposition to efficient government. State employee support of the measure is an attempt to gain favor with Republicans to further passage of an employees' pay increase, he charged.

But Assemblyman William Steiger, R-Oshkosh, replied that the Police Asked to Help Locate UW President

Robert L. Clodius, vice president of academic affairs, said, Harrington is not being asked to return immediately but that he be informed of plans for a special meeting of the Board of Regents Friday. The meeting has been called to consider effects on the University if the Legislature does not pass the 1963-65 budget.

State GOP Shocked by Tax Charges Against Seller

MADISON (AP) — Wisconsin Republicans were shaken when they learned that Philip Sellinger, of the party's state headquarters, staff would be arraigned today on charges of state income tax evasion.

Dane County Dist. Atty. William D. Byrne said Sellinger would appear before Dane County Judge William Buehler on five counts of failure to file returns for the years 1957 through 1961. Sellinger, the public relations man for the state voluntary organization for the last four years, edited the party's newsletter, disbelieved when they learned of "Facts" in its recent attacks on the charges, made public on Sunday by the Associated Press.

GOP Legislator Asserts

Highway, Conservation Budgets To be Enacted Before June 30

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Whatever happens in the general state budget stalemate between the Republican legislature and the Democratic governor, the legislature will enact new highway and conservation budgets before the end of the fiscal year June 30, a Republican legislative leader said.

Assemblyman Paul Alfonsi, Republican floorleader in the assembly, said his house will probably schedule hearings early next week on the two big segregated fund departmental budgets.

Assured Revenues

The separate departmental fiscal programs are distinguished from the general state budget in that they are financed through assured revenues, such as the motor vehicle registration fees and motor fuel taxes for the highway department, and fish and game license receipts, forestry tax receipts and others that are earmarked for the conservation services.

marked for the conservation services of the conservation department budget as it was submitted.

But both departments would be handicapped if the legislature failed to enact a new budget law for the department of wild animal predator control, since they have planned broadened programs corresponding with expected increases in their revenues.

Expected to Expand

The highway department budget sustains also the spending program of the state motor vehicle department, which also expects to expand its work somewhat. The budget has written calls for an enlargement of its force of highway truck inspectors and driver licensing examiners and an improvement of its law enforcement radio communications system in the northern reaches of the state.

Among the controversial features of the conservation department budget as it was submitted by Gov. Reynolds is a proposed elimination of funds for the payment of wild animal predator bounties. As in other years, this legislature is expected to write in a bounty appropriation against the wishes of the conservation administration.

3,000 Indian POWs Present Nehru Regime With Problem

Many Prisoners May Have Been Brainwashed by Red Chinese

By PAUL HURMUSES
Chicago Daily News Service

NEW DELHI—The Indian government has a first-class propaganda problem on its hands — what to do now with more than 3,000 prisoners of war captured by the Red Chinese in last October's fighting and now returned to India.

None of the officers, numbering 270 and including a brigadier general, has been returned to his unit in the Indian army.

Defense Ministry officials confirm that the army is conducting an intensive interrogation of the returnees with a twofold purpose: First to ascertain the extent of Chinese attempts to brainwash the prisoners and secondly to determine how many of the prisoners broke during their six-month detention.

Uppermost in the minds of both Indian and Western observers here is the bitter experience of Korea, when American POWs were subjected to brainwashing by the Red Chinese, acknowledged past masters.

Sent on Leave

The senior spokesman for the Indian Ministry of Defense, Brig. Gen. C. L. Bhardwaj, flatly describes Chinese brainwashing attempts on the Indian POWs as particularly vicious. At the same time he could not predict when if ever the POWs would be returned to active duty. "We now plan to send these men on lengthy leave, perhaps three months or even more."

China began the systematic release of officers and men at selected border points on April 10 in 10 lots of varying size. The last group, numbering 382, was turned over to Indian Red Cross officials over the weekend. Last December 716 wounded were sent back.

1,658 Still Missing

The Indian government admits today that 1,658 officers and ranks are still unaccounted for. This is a much higher figure than previously estimated. Officials now tend to the belief that these men were all killed during the fighting in Ladakh and the North East Frontier Agency.

Chinese techniques on the Indian POWs took a number of forms, according to informed sources in the government and in the army.

In the first place all the officers were taken to Peking, not to be paraded in derisive fashion as the Chinese have done on previous occasions, but presumably to be shown the delights of the Red Chinese paradise on the level of the enlisted men. The Chinese guided them through their own military bivouacs, pointedly showing the Indians how Communist officers and men live together eating out of the same rice bowl.

This sort of democracy may well have had considerable impact on the traditionally class-conscious Indian soldier. One report attributed to an unidentified Indian colonel had 40 per cent of the Indian Jawans (Indian GI) protesting to their Chinese captors that they never wanted to be in the army in the first place.

Bob Olkiewicz Hurls Victory Over Hortonville

HORTONVILLE — Omro tallied twice in the third inning to take a 3-2 lead and went on to a 7-2 victory over Hortonville to cop the undisputed championship in the Eastern Division of the Little Nine Conference here Monday afternoon.

Omro finished the season with a 4-0 record in loop play with Hortonville sporting a 2-2 mark. A victory for the Polar Bears would have gained a tie for the title.

Roger Huebner belted a solo home run in the first inning for Hortonville but Bob Olkiewicz went on to cop the mound decision as he fanned seven. Huebner struck out five but suffered the loss. Neither pitcher issued a base-on-balls.

Clay Sends Town Reeling

Cassius Gets Warning in London, Button Your Mouth or Cooper Will

LONDON (AP) — Cassius Marcellus Clay, who needs no introduction, got a word of warning today:

Button your mouth—or a British fighter might do it for you.

The American heavyweight hit town Monday, London, taking it squarely on the chin, reeled. Today the old place was still groggily shaking its head.

Clay—here to tangle with British and Empire champion Henry Cooper on June 15—arrived prophesying the destruction of his opponent in five rounds.

He held up an open palm, five fat fingers extended.

British fans got the message. The characteristic Clay quotes dropped thick and fast:

"I am the boldest and most popular and most prettiest fighter in the world today and naturally I am going to be the champion of the world."

They Tremble

"The big fighters see me on the horizon and they tremble. . . I am too quick for Cooper. I think too fast. . . I'll ruin him. It's too bad. You shouldn't have allowed him to get into the ring with me. It'll be his last fight."

But from one sports writer — Jack Wood of the Daily Mail — Clay got a warning that his endless boasting could land him in trouble.

Wood said Clay's boast about not bothering to train hard for this fight—because licking Cooper would be easy—was dangerous nonsense.

"Is Clay that good?" the sports writer asked. "Can he dismiss Cooper with a few thousand words and a few rounds of sparring and conditioning?"

"The answer: No. If Clay has come to believe his own publicity, if he has decided he is the greatest when his record shows that he is not, then the Lip could be firmly buttoned."

Clay's performan on his introduction to London even dazed some tough British sports writers. "There has never been anything quite like it," wrote Peter Wilson of the Daily Mirror. "He came, he saw and he talked."

Fall Down Himself

"If Cassius fights one half as fast as he talks either Cooper will go out in record time or the keying king from Kentucky will fall down himself, exhausted and breathless."

To another sports writer, however, Clay's brand of gamesmanship just wasn't cricket.

Tom Phillips of the Daily Herald advised Clay to quit his talking.

The British public, said Phillips, liked a personality—"They adore a brash young chap with talent, in whatever sphere his skills lie."

"They are much more sensible than the Americans, however, in that they will not listen to rudeness, bunkum, ballyhoo and deliberate delirating more than once."

Until they finally meet, Phillips advised Clay to go into hiding and keep his lip buttoned—or British fans who plan to see the fight are likely to give their tickets away.

"For Clay," he wrote, "is in danger of winning the title for being the world's biggest boxing bore."

Carl Kalbus and Russ Rusch Hold Greenville in Check

GREENVILLE—The New London Merchants opened their 1963 play in the southern division of the BABA with a 9-0 win over Greenville here Sunday afternoon.

New London batters blasted two Greenville pitchers for 18 hits. Carl Kalbus, on the mound for New London, went seven innings and gave up four hits. Russ Rusch came in to pitch the last two innings and held Greenville hitless.

The Merchants started their scoring in the fourth inning when Herb Wilde singled and Clair Baehman doubled driving in the first run. After Sheldon Rusch was safe on an error Mel Myers blasted another double driving in two more runs.

A single run was scored in the fifth on a single by Russ Rusch and a triple by Wilde and in the sixth Sheldon Rusch slammed a home run.

Three more runs were scored in the seventh on singles by Ed Algiers, Duane Wakeseck and a double by Gary Herres. The final run of the game came in the eighth on three more singles.

Ken Schmelzel started on the mound for Greenville and went six innings giving up five runs on nine hits, he struck out seven and didn't walk anyone. He was relieved by Fran Schmelzel who gave up four runs on eight hits. Fran struck out three and walked one.

Kalbus for the Merchants struck out five and walked three and Rusch struck out three and walked one.

Memorial Day games southern division of the BABA will see Waupaca at New London and Hortonville at Greenville.

Krohn Is Named Wisconsin's MVP

MADISON (AP)—Ron Krohn of Reedsburg, who won five and lost three games as Wisconsin's top pitcher in the past season, was named the Badgers' most valuable player Monday night and winner of the A. J. Sweet Memorial scholarship award.

Dave Tymus, a right-hander from Watertown who pitches and plays first base, was named captain for next season. He won two games as a pitcher and had a batting average of .306.

Dick Groat Takes Over Batting Lead in NL

NEW YORK (AP)—Dick Groat, a big hit three years ago when he won the National League batting title and the most valuable player award, has regained the magic touch with the St. Louis Cardinals to take over the lead from Philadelphia's Wes Covington.

Groat, who has the major league high of 67 base hits, lifted his average three points to .351 in last week's games. He had 11 hits in 30 tries. Meanwhile, Covington fell 12 points into second place at .343. The Phillies' outfielder managed only four hits in 15 attempts.

Groat led the senior circuit in 1960 while with Pittsburgh, hitting .325. He slumped to .275 the next season and batted .294 in 1962 before the Pirates traded him to St. Louis last November. His hit total is eight more than anyone else in the big leagues. Bill White is the NL runner-up with 59 safeties. Brooks Robinson of Baltimore and Chuck Schilling, Boston, share the American League lead with 54.

Tied for Third
Ron Fairly of the Los Angeles Dodgers and Ed Bailey, San Francisco, are deadlocked for third place in the National League batting competition. Each is at .333. Ken Boyer of St. Louis advanced from 10th place to fifth with a 13-for-30 performance that boosted his average 21 points to .331.

Leon Wagner of the Los Angeles Angels slipped one notch to fourth at .342. Chuck Schilling of Boston, Clete Boyer of the New York Yankees and Al Kaline of Detroit share fifth place with .327.

Wagner slugged two home runs and continues to lead the American League in this department with 13. He also is No. 1 in runs batted in with 37. The figures include Sunday's games.

Hank Aaron of Milwaukee heads the National League in homers with 14. The Cards' Boyer drove in six runs last week to take over the RBI lead with 36, one more than Aaron.

SURBITON, England (AP)—Margaret Greenwood says she won her match in the Surrey tennis championships when her skirt fell down at the strategic moment. It happened Monday in the match between the pretty 17-year-old brunette and Margaret Lee with the score tied 2-2 and the advantage to Miss Lee. Miss Greenwood cracked a vicious serve across the net. The hard shot separated buttons from skirt. It fell to her ankles while a crowd of schoolboys tittered at her blue and white striped panties. The shocked Miss Lee hit her return out and missed the service break. The blushing Miss Greenwood picked up her skirt, ran to the dressing room, regained her composure and attire, and went on to win 2-6, 7-5, 6-4. "I wouldn't have won but for that strip tease," she said.

Nichols Takes Over Lead in Dairyland Loop

Garrow Handed 10-6 Defeat; Seymour Wins, 3-1

DAIRYLAND BASEBALL LEAGUE

Bonduel	2	2

Sunday's Results:

Bonduel 7, Freedom 3.
Seymour 6, Black Creek 5 (11 in.)
Landstad 19, Garrow 4
Seymour 3, Mota Park 1.

Next Sunday's Games:

Freedom at Landstad.
Seymour at Nichols.
Navarino at Mota Park.

Nichols received a bye in the week's Dairyland Baseball League action but managed to move into undisputed possession of first place as Garrow was tumbled, 10-6, by Landstad.

Seymour moved into a tie for the runnerup position by topping Hofa Park, 3-1. Bondel defeated Freedom, 7-5, and Navarino outlasted Black Creek, 6-5, in 11 innings.

Bruce Landsverk's single with the bases jammed in the bottom half of the 11th inning accounted for Navarino's winning run. Jack Dingleline opened the frame with a walk and Marv Pies followed with a single. Arlyn Pies drew a walk to set the stage for Landsverk.

Each Got 2 Hits Ray Waush and Landsverk each produced two hits for Navarino while Pete Kettner led Black Creek with a like number of safeties.

Bondel tallied twice in the top of the ninth to turn back Freedom. The winners were paced by Doug Ellertson's long home run. Jerry Marohi started for the winners but reliever Don Kroll picked up the decision.

Lee Otto led an 11-hit Landstad assault against Garrow with four hits in five plate appearances. Ken Seering spaced seven hits and was credited with the decision.

Paul Coppo scattered four hits in gaining the mound victory for Seymour. Bill Gerue homered in the second and doubled home another run in the fourth for the winners.

Coppo fanned 12 and walked three. Losing twirler Don Krumm struck out six and walked only one.

Hadley, Bob Martin and Stinski Fire Sub-Par Golf

Tom Hadley and Bob Martin fired 68s to pace weekend golfing on area courses.

Hadley's 68 sliced four strokes off Neenah Ridgeway's par. Martin's tally was two shots better than Appleton Butte des Morts' par.

Hadley also had rounds of 70 and 73. Martin's other two rounds were 79s.

Herb Shmski carded a 1-under-par 71 at Ridgeway and also added a 78. Don Slutz matched BDM's par and also came in with scores of 72 and 74.

Don Jabas and Bob Ferrel came within a stroke of equalling BDM's par. Jabas also fired a 75 and a 78, while Ferrel added a 76. Other Butte des Morts lows: John Hayes and Steve Clabb, 75s; John Lindberg, 76; Jeff Martin, 76 and 77; Harvey Lhost, 78; and Tom Frawley, 79.

Mrs Al Schnese fired a birdie 4 on the 482-yard sixth hole — BDM's longest.

At Ridgeway, Elmer Seig came in with a 75 and a 78. Other Ridgeway lows: Dick Spangenberg, 77; Ralph Sell, Jr., 77; "Frazz" Kamps, 77 and 79; Ben Kluba and Russ Lakey, 78s; and Ed Verbrick, 79.

Two Plan One Stop

'Pit Stops' Are Key Topic at Indianapolis

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Drivers were talking more about pit stops than speed today as the Indianapolis Motor Speedway was opened for a last brief practice session before the 500-mile race Thursday.

The conventional Offenhauser-powered roadsters, winners of the last 12 Memorial Day classics, have been making three or more pit stops in recent races.

Colin Chapman of London, who built the chassis of the two Lotus-Fords in the field, is planning one stop apiece for Grand Prix drivers Jimmy Clark and Dan Gurney.

Mickey Thompson of Long Beach, Calif., with two unusually light Chevrolet-powered cars in the line-up, hopes to hold veteran Duane Carter and rookie Al Miller to two stops apiece.

Two Stops There is a possibility that Parnelli Jones, the qualification record holder, may try for only two stops, too. His Agajanian special is lighter than most of the other conventional Offys.

"It all depends on tires," Jones said. "If there is too fast a pace, everybody will have to change their ideas about the number of stops."

Twenty-three of the 33 starters will ride on a new 15-inch tire developed specifically for the Lotus-Fords. Other drivers and car owners liked the wider tread and shifted to the new tires Carter's car has tiny 12-inch wheels.

The rest of the field will run on the standard speedway tires, 18-inches in the rear and 16s in front.

If the intricate semi-slick engines of the Lotus - Fords and Thompsons can hold up against the relatively simple Offenhausers, pit stops could be decisive Thursday.

Wills May Need Surgery On Left Foot

Maury in Hospital May be Sidelined For Three Weeks

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Maury Wills, who played every one of the Los Angeles Dodgers' 165 games in 1962, has missed 13 this season and may have to undergo foot surgery that would invalidate him for at least three weeks.

"This hasn't been a very good beginning for me," said the despondent Wills from a hospital bed as his teammates left for Milwaukee to open a 12-game road trip.

"I don't like to be out of the lineup, but this calcium deposit in my toe is so painful I can barely get around. I hope the doctor will get it under control quickly so I can rejoin the team."

Dr. Robert Kerlan, Dodger team physician, says that if Wills responds to X-ray therapy he might be able to play within a week, "but I'm not optimistic on that score."

Somewhat Unusual "The condition is somewhat unusual and painful," said Dr. Kerlan. "It may have started with a bruise, followed by acute infection to the joint of the second toe of Wills' left foot. The pain is rather like that you would experience from a boil on the bottom of a toe."

Wills, who stole a record 104 bases last season and was voted the National League's Most Valuable Player, has been beset by a series of injuries since the season started. He suffered a sprained ankle in the season opener at Chicago and missed five games.

The little Dodger infielder tried to play two games after the calcification was discovered, just before the first series against the San Francisco Giants here.

Dave Brown, second, Boettcher, Cortisone shots gave only tempo and Trudell, third, Appleton's rare relief. He missed that series and the series against the Giants in San Francisco last week.

Other heat winners and runners, respectively: First, Menasha's "Bob Holewinski and Kaukauna's Roger Geisfried and Menasha's George Giesen.

In the semi-finals, Don Boettcher of Appleton was first with Appleton's Al Trudell and New London's Glen Thorpe, second and third, respectively.

NEW YORK (AP)—New York's silver dollar before it was reported resting comfortably today in St. Vincent's Hospital following minor surgery on his right elbow.

The 36-year-old star passer had complained of elbow pains last season after the Giants-Green Bay Packers National Football League title game, and subsequent examinations revealed a swollen bursa.

The injury, aggravated every time Tittle was hit by an opposing tackler, had grown to the size of

Display Case for a Doll Made From an Old Carton

BY CAPPY DICK

Today's fun-project is a display case in which a girl can place her dolls or stuffed animals.

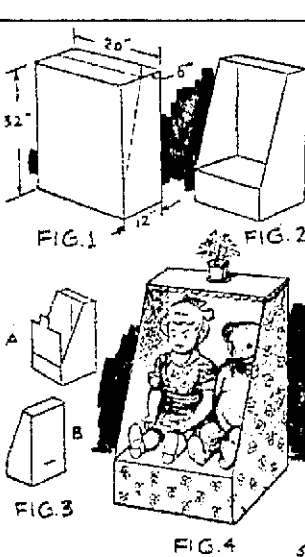

A big carton is required. The actual size depends upon the size of the dolls or animals. Assuming they are about 18 or 20 inches in "B" of Figure 3. This will keep the floor solid enough to hold the dolls.

The display may be covered with wallpaper pasted on the outside of it. Sheets of construction paper of a solid contrasting color may be pasted inside for a lining.

Figure 4 shows the carton with a doll and a stuffed bear sitting in it and a small pot of flowers on top of the case.

No, apparently not. Some people are able to overcome our hatred for who have what others would not have. What is inside of you is far more important than what is outside of you. Fortunately we are now beginning to get scientific knowledge that makes it possible for people to work effectively in building up what is "inside."

Do we know why men hate? Yes—No—

Yes, we know some of the reasons. One reason is self-deception—a refusal to see ourselves as we are. People often try to get rid of their bad qualities by blaming them upon others, either individuals or groups (psychologists call this projection). When we hate others, we may really be hating something about ourselves. Not until we have quit hating ourselves, either by overcoming our faults or by becoming willing to accept and live with them, are we

Musical to Star 6 College Composers

Annual SAI Benefit Wednesday Night In Harper Hall

The music of six Lawrence Conservatory student-composers will be spotlighted on a Contemporary Musicale set for 8-15 p.m. Wednesday in Harper Hall. The program is a benefit event sponsored by the Lawrence Chapter of Sigma Alpha Iota, women's national professional music sorority.

The young composers are Fred Lerdahl, Madison, sophomore, J. D. Miller, Columbus, Wis., junior, Marles Noie, Milwaukee, junior, Jim Walrath, Glenview, Ill., sophomore; Stephen Rohde, Plymouth, senior; and Jean Lewis, senior. All are composition students of James W. Ming, Lawrence professor of music.

Heading the performers' list is the 30-member Xi Chapter Chorus, conducted by Miss Noie. Other participants are student vocalists and instrumentalists from the conservatory.

The music sorority annually sponsors a public program to benefit its International Music Fund and Foundation. Proceeds are used to send instruments and music to needy areas of the world and to promote the music of deserving contemporary composers.

Works by Fred Lerdahl Lerdahl's "Quartet for Violin, Viola, Clarinet and Piano" was performed on last year's sorority program. His "Piano Suite" was included in a student composition recital that same year.

This season Lerdahl wrote music for the Lawrence College Theatre's production of "The Flies," by Jean Paul Sartre. His "Four Songs," set to poems by a Lawrence junior, Jida Napoli, were heard in April and May student recitals.

Miller's "Duet for Clarinet and Oboe" was performed in the 1962 Lawrence Student Composition Recital. "Three Dances for Brass Quintet," slated for Wednesday's program, were played in the latest Composition Recital, in April.

Many Compositions Miss Noie has written extensively for Lawrence stage productions. In 1962 she wrote the melodrama music for Tom Taylor's "Ticket-of-Leave Man." This year, in May, she did the entr'acte scores for O'Neill's "Ah, Wilderness." She also wrote the "Firenale" for the campus variety show, "La-Ta-Va," in April. Her "Love Unlent, Untrue," sung by her sorority, Kappa Alpha Theta, was part of that group's winning effort in the campus Greek Sing in February. An instrumental work, "Sonata for Piano and Aboe," was heard on a student recital in May. Walrath's woodwind quintet, "A Letter to Sweden," was performed in the 1962 Student Composition Recital. Rohde also had a three-part pianoforte "Andante" on the same program. Also that year, his "Concerto for Two Trumpets in Baroque Style" was played on a Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia contemporary recital.

Miss Jean Lewis Miss Lewis wrote two chorale preludes for organ in 1962, "Deck Thyself, My Soul With Gladness," and "Lord Jesus Christ, Be With Us Now," were heard on a student recital program. This year her "Fantasia for Organ" was programmed in an April student recital with Miss Lewis the performer.

Tickets for the musicale are available from members of the sponsoring group. A complete program follows:

African Warns Of Blood Bath

LONDON (AP)—White-ruled South Africa and Southern Rhodesia are in for a bloodbath that may exceed the French Revolution unless they yield to black African demands, African nationalist Kenneth Kaunda warns.

Kaunda, chief minister of British-ruled Northern Rhodesia, called on world leaders Monday to take economic sanctions against South Africa.

Triple Squeeze Segregation Being Smashed in South

BY JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Racial segregation in the South is being smashed in a triple squeeze by the Supreme Court, the Kennedy administration and Negroes themselves demonstrating against discrimination.

The court Monday dealt a deadly blow to exclusion of Negroes from parks, playgrounds or other public facilities. And it clearly showed it is getting tougher about delays in desegregating public schools.

Only a week ago the court banned any attempt to exclude Negroes from places catering to the public—like restaurants or department stores—when the exclusion is imposed by state or city law or official orders.

The court has not yet ruled on whether proprietors of places catering to the public can—on their own and without compulsion from laws or officials—keep Negroes out.

More and more this year Negro demonstrations are persuading white segregationists in the South to remove their racial bars.

Pushing Harder

The Kennedy administration has been pushing harder. For example: sending troops into Alabama to be used, if necessary, to prevent riots in Birmingham.

The same troops can be used next month to enforce a court order—that two Negroes be admitted to the University of Alabama—if the governor, George C. Wallace, tries to carry out his threat to defy the court.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy met with owners of Southern movie theaters Monday to tell them to begin solving their desegregation problems by working on them on a town-by-town basis.

Monday the Supreme Court put the finishing touches on Gov. Wallace's appeal to prevent Kennedy from using troops in Alabama.

The court unanimously rejected his request.

The court's ban on segregation in public facilities—written by Justice Arthur J. Goldberg—was as tough as anything the court has said on the racial issue since it banned public school segregation in 1954.

Memphis Parks

The case happened to involve Memphis parks and playgrounds and swimming pools. But it applies equally to all cities. Memphis has desegregated only some of its facilities.

It wanted to wait until 1971 to desegregate them all. The court said Do it now. Memphis had argued that desegregating all the facilities at once might cause racial strife and riots.

The court said that argument isn't good enough. It said "the compelling answer to this contention is that constitutional rights may not be denied simply because of hostility to their assertion or exercise."

To put it another way, the court was saying: the fact that white people might resent desegregation isn't enough excuse.

The Supreme Court had previously declared: "Law and order are not to be preserved by depriving Negro children of their constitutional rights."

And, the court said in effect, a city can't postpone desegregation of parks and playgrounds with the argument that Negroes have enough of these facilities to meet their needs.

"It is segregation by race that is unconstitutional," the court said.

Present Rights

It added this about the Negroes' desegregation efforts in Memphis: "The rights here asserted are, like all such rights, present rights: they are not merely hopes for some future enjoyment of delays.

Tuesday, May 28, 1963 Post-Crescent A4

some formalistic constitutional promise.

"The basic guarantees of our Constitution are warrants for the here and now and, unless there is an overwhelmingly compelling reason, they are to be promptly fulfilled."

In this last sentence the court was saying that there may be some situations involving a city's facilities which were so unusual that the court might permit delay in desegregation—but they'd have to be extraordinary.

While the court banned public school segregation in 1954 it left unanswered that year the question: How fast? It gave the answer in 1955: "With all deliberate speed."

This, because the problems of public schools are vast and varied, made room for some states and cities and districts to go slower than others. But in Mississippi and Alabama there is still not a single elementary public school desegregated.

That's pretty slow. That the justices are getting impatient with the slowness could be read into their decision in the Memphis case when they referred to the public school problem.

State Schools

Goldberg said that policy of "all deliberate speed" doesn't apply in state colleges or universities—clear warning the court will back admission of Negroes to all of them—and does not apply to public facilities, like playgrounds.

The court said it is far from clear that the doctrine of "all deliberate speed" laid down in 1955 "would today be fully satisfied by types of plans or programs for desegregation of public educational facilities which eight years ago might have been deemed sufficient."

Does that mean Mississippi and Alabama will now have to desegregate their schools faster than would have been the case eight years ago? The court didn't say so specifically. It will have to speak plainer later. But there's no doubt the court is getting fed up on delays and excuses for some future enjoyment of delays.

Pope John Rallies but Condition Held Grave

Vatican Reports He Has Growth in Stomach but Exact Nature Not Learned

BY BENNETT M. BOLTON

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Death brushed close to Pope John XXIII today as he brushed close to Pope John XXIII today, but he weathered the crisis.

The Vatican disclosed he is suffering from gastric heteroplasia—a growth in the stomach. This could be a cancer or a tumor, either benign or malignant.

The diagnosis, published by the Vatican newspaper, L'Osservatore Romano, was the first specifically defining the illness of the 81-year-old Roman Catholic pontiff.

The dictionary definition of heteroplasia is formation of abnormal tissue or of normal tissue in an abnormal locality.

Surgery Rejected
Through tense hours this morning, three doctors were at the Pope's bedside and worked to stem hemorrhaging. Vatican sources reported.

It was the worst crisis of the illness which felled him briefly last fall and has since recurred intermittently.

Medical personnel rushed in and out of the papal apartment. It is possible the doctors have not determined the exact kind of growth involved. In the past, surgery had been considered for exploratory purposes — and been rejected as too dangerous for the pontiff because of his age and condition.

Until today, the Vatican had said only that the Pope had a stomach disorder.

L'Osservatore said the hemorrhages, "caused by the gastric heteroplasia, which has affected the Holy Father for about a year, after being arrested for several months, have had an accentuated resumption in recent days."

"They have now been attenuated, and the organic consequences linked to them are, through today, limited and compensated by the curative measures adopted," it added.

Ill for Year
Aside from disclosing the growth, the statement also disclosed for the first time that the Pope had been ill for a year. Until now, his illness had been dated to last November.

The doctors were Piero Mazoni of Rome, who has remained almost constantly at the apostolic palace for a week; Antonio Gasbarrini, the Pope's personal physician; and Pietro Valdoni, one of Italy's leading surgeons.

Mazoni went to the Pope's bedside at 9:15 a.m. An hour later

Fail to Determine How Ship Was Lost With 39 Crewmen

Coast Guard Inquiry Sheds No Additional Light on Mystery

NEW YORK (AP)—A Coast Guard board of inquiry has ended 37 days of public hearings stymied in its effort to find out how the tanker Marine Sulphur Queen disappeared with 39 crewmen.

The ship, carrying molten sulphur, was last heard from on Feb. 4, off the coast of Florida in rough seas. There was no distress signal.

Rear Adm. James D. Craik, who headed the board of inquiry, said Monday that in the absence of any survivors or conclusive evidence, the exact cause for the disappearance could not be ascertained.

He said the only conclusion that could be drawn was that the ship sank in or near the Straits of Florida. Study of evidence and testimony will continue.

Sailed Feb. 2
The Marine Sulphur Queen sailed Feb. 2 from Beaumont, Tex., bound for Norfolk, Va. She was a converted tanker fitted with special tanks for sulphur, kept molten by steam pipes.

The testimony dwelt mainly on construction details of the ship and analysis of the debris found, some time after she disappeared.

Laboratory reports said there was no indication of any fire or explosion. Specialists testified that molten sulphur is not normally considered dangerously explosive.

The testimony also considered whether there was a structural breakdown. The sulphur tanks were attached to the hull with

Heavy Guard For Convicts In Dane County

Recaptured Felon Boasted That He Will Break Out

MADISON (AP)—"Super-maximum" security has been ordered in the Dane County after one of three hardened Michigan convicts bragged he had engineered one escape and "this cracker-box jail and all your deputies are not strong enough to hold me."

Richard Mauch, 40, who was captured when he was subdued by a single Madison police detective Friday night in a barroom fight, and his two companions appeared in Dane County Court Monday and said they would fight extradition to Michigan.

Also appearing were Robert Gipson, 30, who was captured in the same tavern after he took a shot at an officer, and Elmer Crachy, 35, who was taken into custody after he leaped from the window of a Lake Waubesa cottage Saturday.

Hearing Ordered
Judge William Buerzli ordered an extradition hearing for the three June 25 and set bond for each at $100,000 cash or $200,000 in property. Crachy also was held in $50,000 bond on a federal fugitive warrant. In addition to the extradition warrants against the three, Mauch and Gipson were charged with resisting arrest and carrying concealed weapons.

Mauch, who was serving a life sentence for attempted murder and kidnapping, told Sheriff Vernon Leslie he had engineered the escape from Southern Michigan State Prison in Jackson April 22, fleeing with the trio was James Hall, who was captured earlier in the month in Missouri.

The three, who were in handcuffs during their court appearance, will be held in the Madison jail on the sixth floor of the city-county building. Gipson had his right leg and foot in a cast as the result of a broken ankle suffered in his fight with officers.

Earlier, Sheriff Leslie said that Crachy had just returned to their Lake Waubesa hideout after purchasing a farm near Crosby, Minn. Police theorized the trio planned to establish a permanent headquarters at the farm.

Mauch and Gipson had $1,800 in their possession when arrested.

Learn Cause Of Equipment Malfunction

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Expert scientific detective work has determined that troubles with an electrical amplifier caused the failures which forced astronaut Gordon Cooper to steer his spacecraft manually back to earth.

Moisture, perhaps from Cooper's perspiring, corroded a connection but he warned that a state pupil on the small electronic box called an Amp Cal—for amplifier calibration—and wiped out all spacecraft automatic controls down to a certain re-entry point.

An electrical short in an Amp Cal solder connection, probably because of faulty insulation, knocked out the remainder of the automatic re-entry controls and left Cooper on his own with the manual system.

The Amp Cal is designed to change electrical signals received from various spacecraft sensors such as gyroscopes and infrared horizon scanners, into firing commands which ignite small jets in the capsule's automatic system.

The streams of hydrogen peroxide gas shooting from the jets maintain the spacecraft's proper position and angle in relation to the earth.

As Cooper whirled on the 19th of his 22 orbits two weeks ago, a green light labeled .052 suddenly flashed on and indicated erroneously that he might be re-entering the atmosphere early. Then two inverters which transform alternating to direct current to support certain automatic functions did not work.

Judge Turns Down Integration Plea

Warns Against Discrimination In Applying Placement Law

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—A federal judge refused today to order city schools desegregated. He warned that a state pupil placement law must be applied without discrimination.

U.S. District Judge Seymour H. Lynne denied a requested injunction against school segregation. He ruled that Negro complainants in a 1960 suit had not exhausted remedies afforded by the 1956 statute which gives school boards wide authority in assigning pupils.

Hinging his decision on the law's validity, Lynne said if the statute is unconstitutionally applied, then he would be "compelled to order the submission of a desegregation plan."

Lynne has had two suits under consideration since last October. The U.S. Supreme Court said Monday it will not tolerate avoidable delay in the carrying out of its 1955 order for all deliberate speed in school integration cases.

Both suits before Lynne requested injunctions barring the operation of segregated schools in Birmingham.

Suit Filed in 1960
The first suit was filed in June 1960 by the Rev. F. L. Shuttlesworth, James Armstrong and Vann English on behalf of their children. The second was brought in June 1962 by T. N. Nelson for his two children.

Nelson's suit said he made no request for transfer of his children to white schools under Alabama's pupil placement law because "the remedy there provided is inadequate."

His suit said the transfer of some Negro children to white schools would not achieve the "reorganization of the dual racial system."

Family Birthday Party Planned for Kennedy
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy will celebrate his 46th birthday Wednesday with a family party in the White House.

Regained Sight Easter Morning
MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Bessie Sikes lives in a wonderful new world of color and happiness and an adhesion of her right leg — hope, of smiles and bright faces and green growing things.

This sprightly, cheerful woman had been blind for more than 50 years, due to an attack of meningitis when she was nine months old.

Suddenly, on Easter morning, a small fraction of her sight came back.

Now she is enjoying visits to some of the area's tourist attractions.

Friends took her to a tropical wildlife attraction recently. "I saw the parrots and flamingos and goldfish — some must be a foot long — and even saw the monkeys and an alligator," she said.

She visited a fruit and space garden, too.

Colored Fruit
"Have you ever been there? I saw all the colored fruit. I even went swimming in the ocean at Crandon park. It was wonderful. Of course, I couldn't stay in the water long, on account of the glare on my eye, but I can stay in my apartment now without my dark glasses, you'll notice."

Mother Deaf
Bessie's mother, who for many years operated a boarding house in Miami, was deaf and it was a touching companionship of mother and daughter until Mrs. Sikes died 19 years ago.

"She used to say I was her limits."

Life Suddenly Is full of colors for Bessie Sikes, who wonders at the colorful parrots perched on her arm as she visits Parrot Jungle while taking in the sights at Miami. She lived most of her 50 years without seeing, but has been regaining her sight since Easter. (AP Wirephoto) ears and she was my eyes," Bessie recalls.

While still a girl, Bessie had an adhesion of her right leg — plebeitis — and was in the hospital 13 months. Then for three years she was in bed at home and never had on a pair of shoes.

One day the leg was better and she could walk. That, to Bessie, was the first miracle in her life.

The second came on the Sunday morning six weeks ago when her left eye smarted and she rubbed it.

Could See
"I could see!" she said. "The green design in the linoleum, the blue sky outside my window, my mother's picture on the wall, there — isn't she beautiful?"

Bessie called her closest friend, Miss Winifred Hastings, who told her "Now calm down, Bessie. You're just excited."

Next day she went to see her doctor, whom she had last visited in 1957. He didn't believe she could see, but was soon convinced, when she counted fingers.

10 Escape Injury in Bus-Truck Accident
WATERTOWN (AP)—Ten passengers aboard a Greyhound bus escaped serious injury Monday when it was involved in a collision with a truck during a rain-moist storm.

The crash spoiled the 35-year-old accident-free record of the driver, Allen R. Foster, 61, of Wauwatosa.

Authorities said the bus, bound from Milwaukee to Madison, hit the rear of the truck as the second vehicle was making a left turn off rain-soaked Highway 19 just west of the Watertown city limits.

Biernat Case Probers Seek Taxi Driver

Want to Question Him About Events Before Slaying

KENOSHA (AP)—A taxi driver who disappeared the day before he was to take a lie detector test is being sought by authorities investigating the gang-style slaying of 46-year-old juke box distributor Anthony Biernat.

Sheriff Leland Charlier said Monday night the driver, a lifelong resident of Kenosha, was to have taken a test at the sheriff's department on what he saw the night Biernat was abducted from the North Shore Line depot. But he failed to appear.

"We have heard not a word," the sheriff said.

Officials said the driver apparently was not an eyewitness to the abduction, but had given a statement on what he saw at the depot about 40 minutes before the time it was believed Biernat was attacked and forced into a car.

His statement was kept confidential by police.

The sheriff department's polygraph examiner, Russell Pinsonneault, said the driver's appointment was made for April 30 by the sheriff's investigator William Schmitt, who was quoted as saying he wanted to check the accuracy of the statement.

Biernat was abducted on Jan. 7. Three weeks later his battered body was found in a shallow grave in an empty farm house on the abandoned Bond Air Force Base in western Kenosha County.

Lockheed Tops List Of U. S. Contractors Doing Defense Work

CONTRACTS: Lockheed Aircraft Corp. tops the list of military contractors with more than $1.4 billion worth of defense work awarded this year, the Defense Department has told congress.

General Dynamics Corp. ranked close behind, and stood No. 1 among 2,042 contractors handling experimental, test and research work for the Pentagon.

The figures were made public today in testimony released by the House Military Appropriations subcommittee.

The Defense Department said Lockheed received 5.6 per cent of the military prime contracts awarded in fiscal 1962.

Other firms receiving more than $1 billion worth of prime contracts: General Dynamics at $1.2 billion, Boeing Co. at $1.1 billion and North American Aviation, Inc. at $1 billion.

4-Month Traffic Death Toll in U. S. Set at 11,630

CHICAGO (AP)—During the first four months of this year 11,630 persons were killed in traffic accidents, a record toll, the National Safety Council reported today.

This was 4 per cent more than the 11,160 counted at the end of April 1962 and 1 per cent above the old record of 11,516 in the first four months of 1956.

A 5 per cent increase in travel, however, made the death rate the same as that a year ago. 4.7 fatalities for every 100 million miles traveled.

In the proportion of traffic deaths for every 10,000 registered vehicles during the first four months of the year, Milwaukee ranked third in its population class (500,000 to 750,000) with 1.9.

No other Wisconsin city was listed among the leaders.

Grand Opry Stars to Play At Waupaca

Auxiliary Police, Firemen Planning Benefit June 6

WAUPACA — Four stars of the "Grand Ole Opry" will visit Waupaca at 8 p.m. Thursday, June 6, when the fire department and auxiliary police department will sponsor a special show in the Waupaca High School Gymnasium.

Accompanying the stars will be "The Syrup-Soppers" band, which is a Grand Ole Opry group.

Heading the list will be veteran, Minnie Pearl, who made her debut on "Grand Ole Opry" in 1940 and has been a headliner since that time. She was born Sarah Ophelia Colley in Centerville, Tenn., just a few miles southwest of Nashville, the home of Grand Ole Opry. She has appeared on many television shows as well as the regular Saturday night radio show.

Another of the stars is Connie Hall, who is a guest singer on the Grand Ole Opry. She also makes many personal appearances throughout the country.

Red Sovine joined the Grand Ole Opry in 1954. He became a part of the "Louisiana Hayride" in 1948. Prior to that he played with a number of country bands on radio stations.

Another of the featured artists will be Carl Belew, who is a frequent visitor on Grand Ole Opry. In addition to his singing, Belew has gained fame by his writing songs, including "Am I That Easy to Forget" and "Lonely Street."

Youth Admits Thefts at Hilbert

CHILTON — A 16-year-old Hilbert High School student admitted stealing some $65 in three separate thefts at the school in a statement made Monday to Sheriff C. J. Kosmosky.

The boy also admitted stealing books from the high school library earlier in the school term, according to Kosmosky. The boy said he took five $5 bills from a metal box in an administrative office May 20 and returned May 24 to take 12 $1 bills and about $8 in change.

An earlier theft of $10 in cash was admitted by the youth. Charges against the juvenile are pending, Kosmosky said.

39 Antique Vehicles Parade Chilton Roads

People From Entire Fox Valley Area Bring Cars, Help Arrange Festivities

CHILTON — Thirty-nine immaculate examples of the American automotive industry's formative years paraded the city streets Sunday as the climax of the gathering here of antique car owners.

The assemblage of vintage vehicles represented the Wisconsin Regional Group, Horseless Carriage Club of America, and the Green Bay Model-A Club.

Local organizations had accepted a Chilton Chamber of Commerce invitation to picnic here. The event was the annual spring family picnic of the Horseless Carriage Club. The Model-A group joined in the festivities.

An estimated 125 members of the two clubs and their families were treated to refreshments by the Chamber of Commerce, Hobart Park and adjoining Calumet County Fairground facilities were the setting.

The shining array of automotive antiques and classics began to make their appearance on the city street late Sunday morning. The parade was organized about 3 p.m.

The oldest car at the gathering was a 1911 Model T Ford. Second oldest was a 1912 Haynes touring car but the vehicle attracting the most attention was a sporty roadster, a 1928 Kissell Gold Bug speedster. Its owner, Herb Scharfberger, North Fond du Lac, said he knew of only one other like it in existence.

Not far behind as an attraction was a 1930 Model J Dusenbury owned by Joseph Kaufmann, Manitowoc.

Hundreds of area residents visited the assemblage of old cars, and for everybody over 50 it was a time to reminisce and recall the days they "drove one just like it."

Arranging Event

Arrangements for the Horseless Carriage Club were made by John Boswell, Manitowoc, and George Larson, Neenah, president and activities chairman, respectively, of the regional group. They worked through Vern DeLair and Duane Kandler, both of Chilton, members. The Green Bay Model-A Club was represented by Dr. Hans Kalinka, Chilton, president.

The public relations committee of the Chamber of Commerce was in charge of the project. It is headed by Don Kampfer and Ed Liska, co-chairmen, with Mrs. D. H. Sebra and Edward S. Eick as members.

Cars from Fond du Lac, Manitowoc, Two Rivers, Green Bay, Neenah, Menasha, Appleton and Chilton participated in the event.

Mount Calvary Sets Building Program

Appleton Firm to Construct Nursing, Retirement Home

MOUNT CALVARY — A sweeping program looking to the construction of a nursing and retirement home at Mount Calvary was announced by Mother Mary Rose, SSCK, mother superior of the Sister-Servants of Christ the King. The new home, which will ultimately cost over one million dollars, will be built in two stages.

The first stage of construction will start in the spring of 1964 when completed the home will have a capacity of 108 beds. Following the first stage of construction capacity will be 50 beds.

"In reaching the decision to construct this home," Mother Mary Rose stated, "we were guided by the true needs of the senior citizens of this area. Our work is that of an apostolate to the aging and we know that within a 20 mile radius of Mount Calvary there are some 10,000 Catholic families and only one Catholic home. That one has a capacity of 46 residents. We hope to perform a service and fulfill a need that is becoming more acute each year."

Open To All

The new home, to be called Villa Loretto, will be open to all Catholic and non-Catholic alike. It will be located on a 120 acre site on the northern outskirts of Mount Calvary.

The home will be of one and two story construction, fireproof, with exterior finishes of brick and stone. A central core-building will house the administrative, lounging, dining and engineering equipment. To this core will be attached a wing housing a chapel and a convent. Four resident wings and a library will also be built.

In planning the nursing and retirement home emphasis has been placed on facilities for medical care. Medical examination and treatment rooms, an isolation room, one physical therapy and two occupational therapy rooms will be featured.

The architect is George G. Narovec and Associates, Inc., Appleton.

Pre-Sentence Investigation Set for Youth

Roland Schreiber Pleads Guilty to Four Charges

WAUPACA — Roland Schreiber, 18, route 3, New London, was ordered held in county jail during a pre-sentence investigation to be conducted by the State Department of Public Welfare ordered Monday afternoon by Judge Wendell McHenry in Waupaca County Court.

Schreiber pleaded guilty through his attorney, S. W. Krostue, New London, to two charges of breaking and entering, one charge of escape and one charge of stealing a car.

Judge McHenry set June 17 as the date for sentencing.

Schreiber was ordered held for county court on charges of breaking into the Schwan Oil service station at New London and for taking a car belonging to Kenneth Fields April 22. Bail was set at $2,000.

Arrested for Break-in

When he was out on bail, Schreiber was arrested for breaking into a Little Wolf River cottage May 9. He also was arrested for contributing to the delinquency of a minor who spent the night with him at the cottage. The contributing charges were dismissed by Judge McHenry. Bail was set at $2,500.

Schreiber was unable to furnish bail and was jailed. May 13 he used a key which he smuggled into the jail to unlock a padlock and escaped but was picked up by New London police. The key was found in the plumbing in a sink at the New London city jail.

Sheriff Loran Frazier and New London Police Chief Jack Algiers testified Monday that Schreiber has shown improvement since he has been in jail.

Child Molester Sought by Police At New London

Chilton Track Stars Set Many Records in '63

Tom Dhein Breaks Old State Mark For 440-Yard Dash

CHILTON — Led by fleet-footed Tom Dhein, Chilton High School track stars rewrote several chapters on the school's record book during the season which was climaxed with state competition Saturday.

Dhein shaved nine-tenths of a second off the state Class B 440-yard dash record and came within one tenth of a second of equaling the all time state mark. Dhein, a junior, was clocked at 49.6 while defending the state 440-yard dash crown he annexed as a sophomore. Dhein also successfully defended his 220-yard state title with a 22.2 time.

It was his best time so far for the 220 on a curve but was off his new school record of 22-flat on a straightaway 220. He ran it twice this year in 22-flat.

His new school records in the 220-yard and 440-yard dashes set this year only improved marks he established last year.

Dhein also holds the school's broad jump mark of 21' 4 1/2" set during his limited broad jumping competition as a sophomore. He was a member of the record holding spring medley team.

Jim Wagner regained the discus mark he held briefly as a junior. Wagner tossed the discus 137' 8" to break the year-old mark of 135' 7" set by David Gasch. Wagner set a school record last year but was later edged by Gasch.

Miller Steve Larson shaved his own mile mark from 4:51.9 to 4:46.3 during the season.

The oldest mark to be erased was the 9' 4" pole vault record set in 1949 by Donald Koberger. Tom Fox established the new mark of 10-feet.

Jaycees to Sell Booster Tickets

NEW LONDON — Jaycee booster tickets, which will be good for seven rides at the Jaycee festival June 25 to 30, have arrived and will go on sale early next week, according to club president, Melvin Borchardt.

The tickets will be on sale at both drug stores, Eberts Bar, Lipold and Queenan Grocery and Dent Radio, he said. Voting is going on to choose the new Jaycee Sweetheart to be named at the Festival. One of the main attractions of this year's festival, Borchardt said, will be a water fight between the New London and Clintonville Fire departments.

Lakemen Beat Weyauwega

All Waupaca Batters Score In 10-Run Rally

WAUPACA — The Waupaca Lakemen downed the Weyauwega Braves, 23 to 7, here Sunday afternoon in the Southern Division of the Badger Amateur Baseball Association.

Waupaca opened with a pair of runs in the bottom of the first and the Braves tied the game in the top half of the second.

The Lakemen tagged on three runs in the second and one in the third before collecting three in the fifth to lead 9-2. All of the runs in the bottom of the fifth came in the sixth inning when Lee Thompson crossing the point, maker twice. Doubles by Bob Weller and Dennis Schoenick were the extra-base hits.

Waupaca added one in the seventh and three in the eighth. Weyauwega scored a pair in the seventh and three on a home run by Schmoldt in the ninth inning.

Waupaca used three pitchers and the visitors had four on the mound. Waupaca had 20 hits and Weyauwega had six.

Chilton AC's Hang on for 4-3 Victory

Stave Off 9th Inning Rally by Johnsbury; Bennin Goes Route

CHILTON — The Chilton AC's staved off a ninth inning rally by Johnsbury and evened their Eastshore League record at 1-1 with a 4-3 win over Johnsbury.

Chilton was leading 4-1 on the strength of a four-run outburst in the top of the eighth when Johnsbury pushed across two runs in a futile, last-ditch effort. Two walks and a Chilton error in the ninth almost cost the AC's a victory.

Doubles by Dick Hackbarth and Skip Schmidkofer and Ken Vander Velden's single sparked the winning Chilton spurt. Schmidkofer's hit scored a pair of runs. Frank Dink's two-base hit in the fourth accounted for the other Johnsbury run.

Bob Bennin went the distance for Chilton and received credit for the win. He struck out eight and walked eight. Jerry Stephany took the loss. He fanned seven and walked six while going the route for the losers.

Chilton was led at the plate by Vander Velden and Hackbarth with two hits apiece.

Sunday the AC's play Pipe here in a 2 p.m. contest on the Morrissey Field diamond.

cy Sell; Mrs. Beverly Wruck, in homemaking; Janice Kriewaldt; Miss Klukas, journalism award; Vanice Vandree; Mrs. Robert Billings, library award; Karla Flink; Miss Paulson, forensics; Irmgard Krubsack.

Carl Bruggink presented the boys' physical education award to Dennis Krubsack, and Miss Sue Corey, the girls' physical education award to Karla Flink.

Safe Driver
Director Swan presented the John Philip Sousa Band award to Irmgard Krubsack and the instrumental music (band) award to Robert Hoffman.

Miss Krubsack, secretary of the Future Teachers' Association, presented Future Teachers of the Year awards to Janet Schnorr, Janice Schnorr and Richard Postel.

A $50 U. S. Savings Bond given by Tripod Chevrolet, Inc., Clintonville, as a safe driver award to a graduating senior was presented by Police Chief James Reggs to Jane Krueger.

Chapter President Pingel presented advisor Hutchinson with a gift in appreciation of his work with the Clintonville Chapter of the Future Farmers of America.

In athletics, the most valuable football player award went to Gordon Shaw and was presented by Bill Melzer, vice president of Lettermen's club; most improved football player award to Steve Hedtke, presented by Mary Fox, president of Truckerettes; most valuable basketball player award to Dennis Bodoh, presented by David Hedtke; Bob Hoffman received the most improved basketball player award, presented by Kathy Anderson, vice president of Truckerettes; Coach Werner Wernberg presented Peter Smith with the most outstanding baseball player award; and Coach Bruggink presented Bob Hoffman with the best free throw shooter award.

Many of the athletic, FFA, FHA, music and forensics awards as well as club awards had been presented earlier during the school year.

Clerk of Courts Has Money Order; Needs Sender's Name

Clerks in the Outagamie clerk of courts office came up with a mystery Monday.

A $25 money order arrived in the mail with no information on to whom the money is to be paid or by whom. The envelope contained no return address and blank on the money order to indicate who purchased it was not filled in.

The order was purchased Friday at Postal Station No. 2 and apparently was an alimony payment, Sydney M. Shannon, clerk of courts, said.

Shannon asked that anyone knowing who sent the order, or the person who has the order stub, contact his office and fill in the missing blanks.

Two From Neenah Pay Church Sets Fund Drive $375 in Fines Today

One Arrested for Drunken Driving; Both Plead Guilty of Obstructing Policeman

MENASHA — Two Neenah men, $150 and his drivers license was were fined a total of $375 and revoked for one year.

Holcomb was arrested at 3 a.m. Saturday by county police after his car collided with a parked auto on State 47 south of Appleton. He tested .16 on the breathalyzer.

Former Appleton Man Named Top Federal Employee

Edwin W. Nelson, engineer in charge of the government depot on South Oneida Street, Appleton, from 1937 to 1941, has been named outstanding federal professional employee of 1963 for the Chicago area.

Nelson, a government employee for 37 years, is a resident of Kenilworth, Ill.

Both Men Jailed

Both were confined in Winnebago County Jail Saturday following an accident by a motorcyclist, Gary R. Lee, 20, 383 Oak St., Menasha, on Plank Road.

Lee was rushed to Theda Clark Memorial Hospital for emergency treatment following the accident. He was dismissed from Theda Clark after treatment, but later returned and was admitted. He was reported in satisfactory condition this morning with knee injuries, several bruises and abrasions.

The men were arrested and charged after they threatened a policeman investigating the accident and attempting to stop ambulance crews from assisting Lee.

Second Drunken Driver

Boileau and Peterson fled across a field to Marquette Street after the officer summoned assistance. They were arrested nearby and taken to Appleton, where Boileau was given an alcoholic consumption test. He registered 21 on the test. A reading of .15 is considered evidence of intoxication.

A crowd of about 50 persons witnessed the incident on Plank Road. Boileau and Peterson were held by authorities over the weekend.

Neal Holcomb, 51, 3610 First Ave., Appleton, pleaded guilty of drunken driving this morning before Judge Sitter. He was fined

Immanuel Lutheran At Black Creek to Plan Expansion

BLACK CREEK — During May and June the Congregation of Immanuel Lutheran Church will be conducting a parish-wide stewardship education program, according to the Rev. Arden Wood, pastor of the church.

Objective of the stewardship effort is the creation and accumulation of a building fund, which will be used to construct needed additional facilities.

The congregation has engaged the services of a Lutheran stewardship consultant, whose studies show a projected 50 per cent increase in the size of the congregation from 1958 to 1967. The Sunday school is expected to grow proportionately. The present church plant was completed in 1915 and has had no addition since.

A church loyalty dinner in Black Creek Community Hall Sunday will be high point of the program. Chairmen of committees are Mrs. Edward Shaw, Mrs. Herbert Zellmer and Mrs. Arden Wood.

Members of the church council in charge of the stewardship program are Eugene Barth, Clyde Batte, Donald McGlin, Edward Nelson and Willis Scheller. A general chairman and other campaign leaders are being selected.

NNYC to Tell Plans for Junior Program, Sailing School

NEENAH — Plans for the junior program and new sailing school will be announced at a school will be announced at a Neenah - Nodaway Yacht Club cocktail party from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. Friday at the Valley Inn.

The Dutch treat party is open to all boating enthusiasts — both ship and other boating enthusiasts — over 21.

The club's top summer event will be the Inland Lake Yachting Association's class X invitational summer season on Memorial Day which will be held from Aug. 24, and closes it with the Labor Day About 100 visiting boats are expected.

Royal Neighbors Club Plans Family Picnic; Dale Homemakers Meet

DALE — Mrs. Marjorie Miller was hostess to the Royal Neighbors of America Wednesday evening at which time plans were discussed for a family picnic in Dale Community Park, July 23.

Mrs. Vilda Wallentang and Mrs. Louise Zehner were appointed to place the memorial flags on the graves of the deceased members in the Pine Grove, Union and South Medina cemeteries.

Twenty members of Dale Willing Workers Homemakers Club attended a banquet at Century Elm Supper Club, Larsen, Thursday, May 23.

Rogness Deals Bleckinger 1st Tennis Defeat

Rockets Blank Oshkosh 4-0 in Abbreviated Test

NEENAH — Neenah closed its dual tennis season with a 4-0 decision over Oshkosh in a rain-abbreviated match Monday afternoon at the Doty Park courts.

Although the final matches were to be played at Oshkosh today, the Rockets accumulated enough points on singles wins Monday for the triumph.

Highlight of the brief match was Dick Rogness' upset victory over Chuck Bleckinger at the No. 1 singles. The loss was Bleckinger's first of the year and he had not lost a set until last Saturday's semi-final match against Jeff Rushton of Appleton in the Fox River Valley Conference meet.

Rogness, who just two weeks ago dealt Manitowoc's Dean Eisner his first loss in three years of varsity competition, took the first set 6-4, was blanked 6-0 in the second but came on with a strong finish for a 6-2 verdict in the third.

Koehn, Kraus Win
Dave Koehn easily defeated Jim Werner 6-3, 6-2 at No. 2 and Bob Kraus took the measure of Dave Hirschberg 6-0, 6-1 at No. 3. The fourth point was garnered by Lloyd Hewitt at No. 5 in his 6-2, 6-0 decision over Jim Wagner.

The No. 4 match between Bob Bletzing and Oshkosh's Jeff Gunz was to be completed today. Bletzing won the first set 7-5, lost the second 6-2 and was leading 3-2 in the third when the match was called.

Neither of the two doubles matches were started and weather permitting were to be played at Oshkosh today as practice for the weekend sectional tournament.

The Rockets' 14-match schedule shows 11 victories, 43 losses to Menasha and Manitowoc and a second place in the Mid-Eastern Conference meet.

Kimberly High Seniors' Day Wednesday

Final Tests Will Begin on June 3; Schedule Listed

KIMBERLY — Kimberly High School has set senior class day activities for seventh period on Wednesday.

Tests will begin June 3, morning examinations from 8:30 to 10 a.m. and 10:30 a.m. to noon and afternoon exams from 1 to 4 p.m. No students will be allowed in the school building unless taking tests. A similar schedule will be followed June 4 and on June 5 make-up tests will be given from 10:30 a.m. to noon.

Seniors will pick up caps and gowns and turn in books during the make-up test period. All students will report for school as usual at 1 p.m. June 5 when year-books will be distributed and athletic and other awards given.

On Thursday June 6 the day will be abbreviated with the final period getting out at 11:55 a.m. Graduation practice for seniors will be at 1:30 p.m. June 6 with graduation ceremonies at 8 p.m. On Friday June 7 students will report to school at 9:30 a.m. for a short assembly program and distribution of report cards.

Superior Street May be Paved

Savings From Ballard Road Project May Finance Surface

The City of Appleton's share of the Ballard Road Construction project will be about $10,000 less than originally anticipated, it has been learned.

As a result, Public Works Director Robert W. Bies has indicated he will recommend that the city include the asphalt covering of Superior Street in the 1963 summer paving program.

Originally, it had been scheduled but due to an error was eliminated from the list of projects. Ald. Clifford Raddler (16th) registered objection recently when he noted that Superior Street had not been included.

The Wisconsin Highway Commission recently opened bids on the Ballard Road project and said the Outagamie County share of the cost would be $135,810 of which the city's share would be 50 per cent, or $67,905.

Appleton had budgeted $78,600 for its share of the project expense. Bies has estimated the Superior Street improvement will cost $8,500.

Six Inducted Into Honor Unit At Freedom High

FREEDOM — Some 30 guests and parents were present when six students from Freedom High School were inducted into the Honor Society recently.

Henry Patch, principal, presented pins, and Leon Gerlach, English teacher, gave an address.

The new members are Carol Van Vreede, Joan Lemke, Betty Appleton, Mary Biese, Donna Hendricks and Lloyd Eggert.

To qualify for the honor society a student must earn a 2.5 grade out of a possible 3 and display character, service, school citizenship and leadership.

John Schwallier, social problems teacher, is the group advisor.

Don't We Love Our Country?

Appleton's Kiwanis Clubs and the Post-Crescent are co-sponsoring the sale of American flags suitable for display at homes and business places. The motivation for this is a feeling that not enough people take the trouble any more to display the Stars and Stripes on national holidays; a great many people do not even own a flag. American flags in various sizes also can be purchased, of course, at a number of stores in the area.

Monday a citizen of Appleton came into the editor's office and took out of his wallet an editorial that had been published by the Chicago Tribune three years ago. He had been so impressed by it that he had carried it in his pocket for three years, then decided to show it to us. The editorial was headed "A Disgrace" and opened with these words:

Don't Americans love their country or have pride in it? Have they forgotten the meaning of Independence Day, which started them on the road of knowing the blessings of liberty they still enjoy? We ask these questions because observation on the Fourth of July showed so few flags being flown. The editor, on a trip around Evanston, was dismayed at the lack of visible signs of patriotism. A little girl, going from Highland Park to Lake Forest, counted 48 flags on the main traveled route, but was disappointed in her hope that she would see a 49th, to mark the admission of Alaska to the Union. Americans seem to be able to provide themselves with gin and tonic and other potables. Why can't they achieve a better inner and outer illumination by displaying the flag on the greatest anniversaries of their country? They should fly it on all of the great patriotic days—from their homes, from public buildings, from schools, from office buildings.

Thursday is Memorial Day, and once again we expect to see the sad spectacle of perhaps one out of 10 homes flying the Red, White and Blue. But a much higher percentage of families will go on picnics, fill our lakes and rivers with the roar of outboard motors, and our parks and backyards with the odor of burning charcoal. There is nothing wrong with this kind of enjoyment on such a day, but would it be such a burden for these people to take the trouble, when they get up in the morning, to remember that this day has been set aside to remember the millions of Americans who gave their lives—from Saratoga to Antietam to Belleau Woods to Tarawa and Anzio and Inchon—that the rest of us might continue to enjoy such "blessings of liberty" as picnics and other family outings?

The best way to make such an observance is to fly the flag—and say a small prayer for those who gave us the right to do so.

This Is Leadership?

Gov. Wallace of Alabama is defying a federal court order that holds that two Negro students must be admitted to the University of Alabama in June. Gov. Wallace says, "I will be present to bar the entrance of any Negro who attempts to enroll at the university." The belligerent attitude of the governor might be funny if the consequences of his action were not so serious.

Last fall when Gov. Barnett of Mississippi stood between James Meredith and registration at the university at Oxford, pitched battle between federal marshals, students and just plain thugs resulted and at least two people were murdered. The frustration of the staunch segregationists, many of them from out of town and even out of state, exploded into mob violence. When it was over, Meredith was in the university, charges against Barnett are still pending and the issue of state's rights versus civil rights in Mississippi had been determined but at a cost.

Gov. Wallace won election in Alabama last fall primarily on a platform of eternal resistance to integration. Perhaps he honestly feels that he therefore owes to the people of his state all his efforts to prevent integration of the university and to maintain his position to the bitter—and inevitable—end.

But the governor has a wider responsibility to all the people of his state to maintain justice and order. By physically putting himself between the applying Negroes and the university he very likely is inciting a riot. This is petty business indeed for the governor of a state that likes to consider itself sovereign.

Where Is the Blame?

An article in Sports Illustrated titled "The True Crisis" by John Underwood, underscores the problems that are behind the various athletic scandals on college and professional levels. Success is the trouble with American sport, according to Underwood, and he well documents his ideas.

Actually he points out that participating sports are in a fine, healthy situation. Nor are there many really serious scandals such as afflicted spectator sports several decades ago. But the enthusiasm about sports, the recruitment which reaches the high school level, the glory of the college star athlete had led inevitably to Paul Hornung's mistake. Actually, asks Underwood, what could one expect when the governor of Kentucky actually came to call to try to persuade Hornung to go to the University of Kentucky rather than to Notre Dame?

It is not enough to wonder how many budding chemists, flutists or authors that same governor personally called upon for the same purpose. In general we are inclined to think that scholarship—or at least top scholarship—is once more gaining deserved recognition even in competition with halfbacks and forwards. But there is a lot of opposition to be met if American athletics doesn't degenerate again.

We are not opposed to college or university athletic scholarships. There are a lot of fine young men who are able to get a college education because they happen to be naturally athletic and are willing to accept the necessary self-discipline and training to succeed. It is when athletic scholarships become so relatively easy to acquire for the athlete, while his less co-ordinated brother finds college financing extremely difficult, that the whole system is thrown out of balance. It is when recruitment gets down to the high school level, when a good program like the Little League is sometimes perverted from its original purpose by over-eager fathers and coaches, when snap courses are accepted as the thing to do by college athletes or when the development of an outstanding athletic team becomes a way to build a college, that our values need reshaping.

Underwood writes that "the change in viewpoint must begin with the people at the top, both in college and professional circles." But it must also come from the parents, coaches and school administrators. Perhaps it should also come from a de-emphasis on high school athletics in newspaper sport pages. In the long run the overemphasis in our schools—both public and parochial—is a contributing factor to the scandal that engulfed the National Football League.

Looking Backward

Vallandigham's Parting Words

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for June 6, 1863.

Military Prison, Cincinnati, Ohio, May 22, 1863 — Banished from my native state for no crime save democratic opinions and free speech in their defense, and about to go into exile, not of my own free will but by the compulsion of an arbitrary and tyrannic power, which I cannot resist, allow me a parting word.

Because despotism and superior power so will it, I go within the Confederate lines. I will understand the purpose of this order. But in vain the malice of enemies shall thus continue to give color to the calumnies and misrepresentation of the past two years. They little understand the character of the man with whom they have to deal.

No order of banishment, executed by superior force, can release me from my rights as a citizen of Ohio and of the United States. My allegiance to my own State and Government I shall recognize, wheresoever I may be, as binding in all things, just the same as though I remained upon their soil.

Every sentiment and expression of attachment to the Union and devotion to the Constitution, to my country, which I have ever cherished or uttered, shall abide unchanged and unretreated till my return.

Meanwhile, I will not doubt that the people of Ohio, covering not a moment before either threats or the exercise of arbitrary power will, in every trial, prove themselves worthy to be called freemen. — Signed C. L. Vallandigham

Asks Federal Solution to Medical Problems Instead of Telethons

Editor, Post-Crescent:

After watching the cerebral palsy telethon for approximately twenty minutes, I could not escape from the conclusion that we Americans manage to come up with some rather absurd solutions to various social problems. No person in his right mind will deny that the occurrence of cerebral palsy in our society is a serious social problem. Unfortunately other diseases represent serious social problems which have in need of being resolved also.

Money is continually being solicited in bars, stores and other public places for the disease which has currently caught the public fancy. Thanks to the vulgar, cheap publicity campaigns which have their origins in Madison Avenue and Hollywood, we are constantly being implored to give money in order that some disease may be conquered. The Hollywood hucksters appear and our money is expected to flow towards the people who are collecting it.

If the various diseases represent acute social problems which must be resolved, why don't we call upon the collective resources of our nation to help resolve these problems? Can we afford to let the whim of John Q. Public decide which diseases are going to be fought with his dollars? Must we wait to see if we can get John Q. Public to shed a few vicarious tears as he views the victims of the disease with dumb dismay? Or shall we entertain John Q. Public and get his money in that manner as we provide him with his circus or carnival?

The people who organize telethons and "drives" for money that is supposed to combat disease apparently have nothing but total contempt for the reasoning ability of John Q. Public. They are afraid to organize his aid in a legislative manner that would get these problems solved on a national level. Somehow they never venture to suggest that perhaps the American Medical Association could use its political influence in Washington in order to get the taxpayer's dollar enlisted in a concrete, planned program of research.

How are we going to combat the diseases that do not catch the public attention? Will research lag in certain areas because the public is indifferent? and what are we supposed to do about the diseases that are not supposed to be mentioned in polite social conversation?

Let us do away with drives which ask us to donate money to medical research! A federal solution to the problem is the only sane solution to the problem.

Reynolds Optimistic Despite Dark Outlook For Budget Proposals

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — There is a heightening air of unreality about the fiscal proposals and outlook of the Democratic state administration.

While there is yet no faint glimmer of hope that he can resolve the most serious budget deficit crisis that has confronted the state in memory, Gov. Reynolds proceeds cheerfully to submit to the indifferent if not hostile legislature a series of borrowing propositions that have aggregated very nearly half a billion dollars.

Half a billion dollars! What other executive of the state government would have offered spending programs of such scope, to be supported by borrowed money, through artificial corporations, in a state which has a constitution that explicitly prohibits bonded debt?

Thus far the governor has endorsed institution building bonds of about $85,000,000, borrowing for the acceleration of the outdoors recreation program amounting to about $40,000,000, and most recently has submitted what is by all odds the most ambitious highway program ever pasted together, to the tune of a $380,000,000 highway bonding proposal. Under the circumstances, the fact that the state exposition board has brought out a plan to borrow $10,000,000 to finance the removal of the state fair to a new location is a detail, perhaps not worth much notice.

SERIOUS

Are these serious propositions that are making the headlines in the state press these days?

The answer must be qualified. They are serious to the extent that the sponsoring governor is entirely in earnest about them. He has a genuine enthusiasm for the highway crash program, for example, and is convinced that it may become the most important theme of his tenure as governor.

But they are not serious in the sense of their reception by the men who must approve them — the members of the legislature. When Mr. Reynolds addressed the legislature in joint session on the highway bonding proposal the other day, there were many vacant seats in the row reserved for state senators. Some of the members of the upper house, quite plainly, are getting tired of listening to speeches about proposals that have no slightest chance of enactment.

There is also a revealing lack of public response from the Democratic members who might under ordinary circumstances fall in line if only for reasons of partisan habit. In deed, Floor-leader Huber of the assembly Democratic minority not long ago thought it necessary to say publicly that he would tolerate no proposals for coalitions between legislative Democrats and Republicans against Reynolds on the resolution of the operating budget problem.

Why should Huber have found it necessary to issue such a warning, except that there is reason to believe that some of the Democrats are becoming restless and are tempted to make their own accommodation with the Republican majorities?

IF

Republicans like to paint Democratic liberals during the campaign seasons as "spenders", as profligate in their attitude toward the taxpayers' dollars.

They will never have as ripe an opportunity for such a theme as when they campaign against Gov. Reynolds in his second term drive next year.

The Reynolds expenditures proposals are so many and so far-reaching, indeed, as to raise the question whether he would be sponsoring them if his party was in responsible control of the state government. As a guess, he would not. Some of the current spending enthusiasm may very well relate to the fact that there is very little chance of enactment of his propositions.

About all that he can hope for is to create a generally favorable impression among powerful special interest groups. If all the persons interested in more highway building and more recreational development, and a larger operations budget of the state in most major fields regard the governor as their champion, he will have a good start toward reelection.

Strictly Personal

Man's Vision Limited; Can't Picture Bomb

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

The day I arrived in New York last month, I heard nothing but the scream of fire engines from morning until well past midnight. As you may have seen in the papers, the five boroughs of New York together turned in 1,000 alarms on that Saturday in April.

The fire departments were taxed to their limits, and in some cases beyond. A grave water shortage developed late in the day. A wave of fires on southern Stratten Island involved more than half of New York City's Fire Department alone.

In our muted discussions of atomic attack, we think mostly of the cataclysmic impact of the bomb. But, according to physicists I have read and listened to, the consequences of fire from such an attack are equally appalling. And the 1,000 alarms on this Saturday would be infinitesimal compared with the conflagration begun by a single H-bomb.

How can we begin to imagine the unimaginable? This question, I think, is the clue to most of the passivity and fatalism of the public toward atomic warfare. Just as no finite and mortal person can really comprehend infinity or eternity, so none of us can actually grasp the apocalyptic quality of the next war.

Some things are too small to grasp — nobody, for instance, can really visualize the world of sub-atomic matter — and some things are too large. Man is a creature of middle distance, and his vision is limited to objects in the middle ground.

It is no accident that the few philosophers of science in our time have pointed out the quite remarkable fact that the human species is, with almost mathematical exactitude, midway between the largest order and the smallest order of magnitude in the universe.

We stand in relation to the proton as the universe stands in relation to us. Such a concept is nearly inconceivable, except in a scientific formula, which robs it of all concreteness and existential meaning. But what a wonder, and a bafflement, that a creature so equidistant from both magnitudes should be able to understand and (partly) control both of them.

There is no doubt in my mind that the human race is approaching its ultimate moral crisis. We have gone too far to turn back, we have opened too many doors that will not close again, and perhaps released too many demons that will refuse to be put back in their bottles.

The 1,000 fires in a day were extinguished by heroic efforts; but we now have the capacity to start 1,000,000 fires simultaneously, with no capacity to extinguish them. Perhaps the most crushing paradox of our time is that never before has mankind been so powerful — and men so powerless. This is what we do not want to think of. (Copyright, 1963)

Metabolism Problems Can be Quite Common

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M. D.
Dear Dr. Molner: During a recent illness my doctor said that my metabolism was out of whack. With proper treatment can this be adjusted? — J. J. C.
Yes, You didn't say whether 'out of whack' means that your thyroid gland is too active or too sluggish but it produces the hormones which regulate metabolism.

Molner

And metabolism is a measure of the rate at which we put to use the energy contained in our food. If the thyroid is sluggish so are you — you don't have much energy, your eyes and hair may lose luster, you feel cold when the temperature doesn't warrant it and you may put on weight because of lack of activity. If the thyroid gland is too active the reverse is true. You have energy, you have so much that you can't sit still but have the jitters and "nerves." You may have palpitation. There are a lot of symptoms in other words for too much or too little thyroid activity.

Measures Oxygen

The way to diagnose it specifically is to use either the B. M. R. (basal metabolism rate) which depends on measuring the amount of oxygen you use up, or the more precise P. B. I. or protein bound iodine test which measures the amount of thyroid hormone circulating in your blood.

If your problem is underactivity, daily administration of thyroid tablets does an excellent job of making up the difference.

If the opposite is true, anti-thyroid drugs may be used or radioactive iodine may be given or surgery may be the answer removing part of the thyroid gland.

Choosing the correct type of treatment for the individual case requires good judgment and careful evaluation of the patient's symptoms and circumstances. As a simple example, you don't decide that someone needs thyroid pills to pep him up when actually his trouble is that he is exhausted from too much strain and work. Nor do you slow down the thyroid's activity because the patient is wrought up because of extreme personal problems.

Necessary Test

That's why the B. M. R. and P. B. I. tests especially the latter are necessary to confirm a physician's observations.

Thyroid (or metabolism) problems are quite common. Some are severe and obvious, some are subtle and mild and difficult to detect. Standard tests are now available for confirming the facts. After that treatment can be very effective.

But some changes can occur within narrow limits, one can switch from over-active to under-active or vice versa. If your doctor prescribes a certain treatment, don't think that's the answer forever. He will recheck you from time to time so he can stop the treatment or modify it as your changing needs indicate.

Dear Dr. Molner: What could cause seminal fluid to be clouded with blood? Sometimes it is normal. — G. F.

Usually it's a prostate problem. Have it checked. The blood may originate from the seminal vesicles (a reservoir structure for the fluid) which may be congested or inflamed.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 20 and have four children. I am breast feeding the youngest who is five months old. Is it possible to become pregnant before my period resumes? — R. M.

Yes.

How to get rid of leg cramps and foot pains? The answer may be simple. Write to Dr. Molner in care of this newspaper for a copy of the leaflet "How To Stop Leg Cramps and Foot Pains" enclosed. Stamp and 5 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Backers of 3 New Amendments To Constitution Face Hard Road

BY STANLEY MEISLER

WASHINGTON (AP) — States have voted for the same amendment, and not all 16 routes are rough, and the states' rights quietly trying to push them. Only one amendment so far has attracted as many as 12 states. The states' rights need at least 34 states to take a long, rocky, weaving road ahead. Without fanfare, the legislatures of 16 states have approved resolutions asking Congress to call a national convention to consider these amendments aimed at curtailing the powers of the federal government. But the states vary in their present Constitution. All these likes and dislikes, and not all 16 routes are rough, and the states' rights quietly trying to push them. Only one amendment so far has attracted as many as 12 states. The states' rights need at least 34 states to take a long, rocky, weaving road ahead. Without fanfare, the legislatures of 16 states have approved resolutions asking Congress to call a

Second of a Series

1. Make it possible for the states to propose and ratify constitutional amendments completely on their own

2. Wipe out federal jurisdiction over the apportionment of seats in the state legislatures.

3. Make it possible for certain decisions of the U.S. Supreme Court to be overruled by a states-controlled "Court of the Union."

Of late, these amendments have provoked a chorus of opposition that includes President Kennedy, Republican Gov. George Romney of Michigan and senators from both the Democratic and Republican parties. Chief Justice Earl Warren has called for a great national debate.

But, so far, there has not been a great debate. Most advocates of these amendments have failed to stand up and reply to the critics. Instead, they have continued their quiet drive to push the amendments through the legislatures.

By the route used, states' rights first must line up 34 states—two-thirds of the 50—for each of the amendments.

If they succeed, Congress, under the Constitution, would have to call a convention to consider the amendments. Since this never has been done before, legal experts are not sure what power the convention would have. Most likely, it either would approve or reject the amendments. But some experts think it might become a general constitutional convention considering a wide range of alternatives as well as the three proposed amendments.

38 States Needed

In any case, under the Constitution, amendments approved by this convention would be submitted to the states for ratification. If 38 state legislatures or state conventions—three-fourths of the 50—ratified the amendments, they would become part of the U.S. Constitution.

The 23 amendments now in the Constitution were approved by a less complicated method: they were proposed by a two-thirds vote in Congress and then ratified by three-fourths of the states.

States' righters have not overlooked this more usual, less complicated way. The proposed amendments have been introduced in the House and Senate. But so far they have gotten nowhere, and supporters of the amendments have their hopes pinned on the state legislatures.

Now let us see how much simpler all this would be if the states' righters had their way and their first proposed amendment was accepted.

Under it, a constitutional amendment could be approved if proposed by two-thirds of the state legislatures and then ratified by three-fourths of the legislatures. The whole idea of a national convention would be eliminated.

Those who favor this amendment see it simply as an easier way for the states to get their point of view into the U.S. Constitution.

But the opponents disapprove of the amendment because it leaves open the possibility of an amendment becoming part of the U.S. Constitution without any national deliberation—either by Congress or by a national convention.

Prof. Charles L. Black Jr. of Yale University's law school says that the amendment also "would make it possible for a proportion of the American people no greater than that which supported (Alfred) Landon in 1936 to impose on the rest of the country any alteration whatever in the Constitution."

In addition, Black figures that under this amendment the Constitution could be changed "if about 15 per cent of the American people were represented by legislators who desired that result."

The professor bases this figure on the fact that the 38 least-populated states—enough to propose and ratify—have only 40 per cent of the American population and that even in these states the legislatures are weighted in favor of the less populated rural areas.

The board of governors of the American Bar Association has voted its disapproval of this proposed amendment because it believes "that the Congress should not be excluded from the constitutional amending process."

But Brevard Crisfield, executive director of the Council of State Governments, replies that Congress would not be excluded because it still could propose amendments by a two-thirds vote.

This amendment has won the approval so far of 11 states: Arkansas, Florida, Idaho, Illinois, Kansas, Missouri, New Hampshire, Oklahoma, South Dakota, Texas and Wyoming.

South Carolina will make the total 12 as soon as it completes some minor details on the resolution. Nebraska would have made it 13 but Democratic Gov. Frank Morrison vetoed the proposal after the legislature voted for it.

Next: A look at the two amendments aimed at the U.S. Supreme Court.

Beauty, Artistry of Past Apparent In Displays at Antiques Show, Sale

Antique and curiosity lovers, those interested in items from the past, and the shopper with an eye for 'something different' had cause to gloat last weekend.

A 17th Century gold leaf table, a clock with a Dresden China base, over 100 years old and keeping perfect time; hand painted dishes, silver candelabra, a baker's lamp used during the 18th century to help English bakers keep tabs on the goodies hidden in the deep recesses of their ovens; ornate gilt picture frames balancing on tiny feet, a ship's lamp, dated 1880; French flagree butterfly pins, lover's knots, sunbursts, amethyst and garnet rings, exquisitely carved cameos, solid gold rings, and sets of pitchers with cupids adorning their sides were there to be seen and admired.

The Antiques Show and Sale sponsored by the Charity Circle of the King's Daughters Friday and Saturday at KP Hall offered all these and more. The graceful lines of furniture out of the past were part of the exhibit. So were Japanese tea sets and cut crystal vases and bowls, every facet aglow with blue and green light. Old ivory carvings, lined with age, told of other countries. A satin glass portrait in porcelain, applied to the side of a curving vase in true cranberry glass; brass doorknobs; a set of metal measuring pitchers; wood carvings taken from a 16th Century Italian Amorial, and keys that appear large enough to unlock a castle were the tempting and interesting wares offered by 14 dealers from throughout the midwest.

Charity Circle members served cookies and coffee throughout both show days, to permit the browser to take his time and look to his heart's content. Meals were provided during the event by the Pythian Sisters.

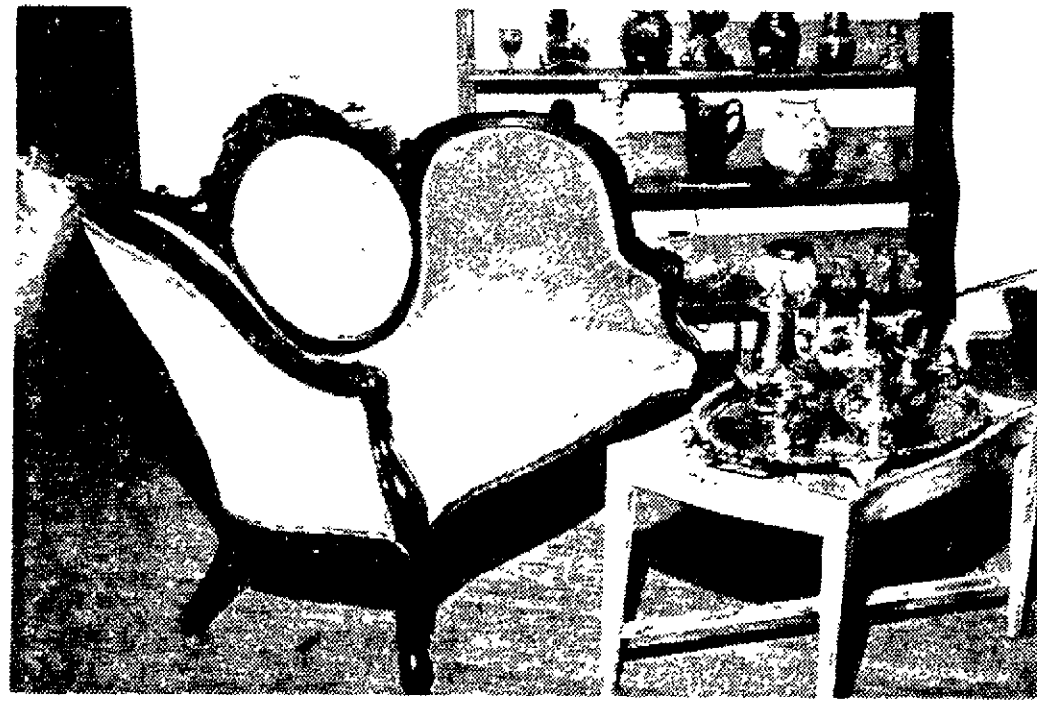

Mrs. Franklin Neils and Mrs. John Brann were co-chairmen of the project, assisted by the other 28 circle members.

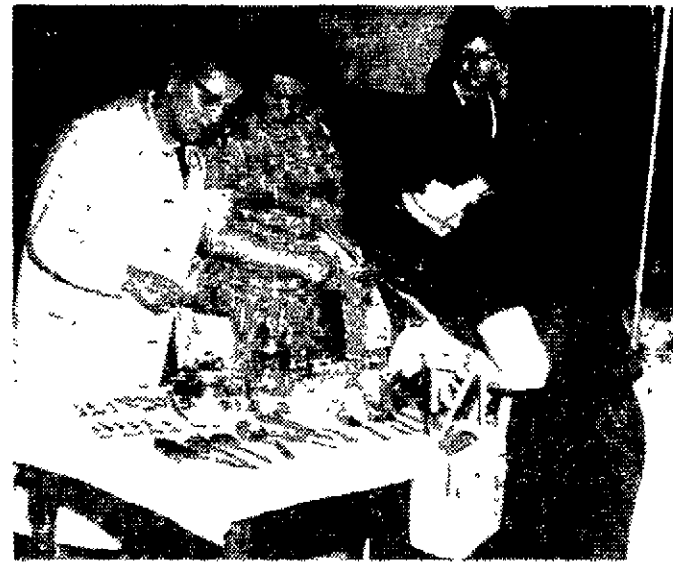

"The Proposal" is the name of the Royal Sevres grouping above. The suitor approaches the haughty mother of his beloved, bearing flowers, while the young woman waits in the background. Several such elaborate pieces were shown by dealers at the Charity Circle's Antiques Show and Sale Friday and Saturday at KP Hall. Below, buyers and browsers look over the displays, set up by dealers from throughout the midwest.

An 18th Century Scene is depicted on the Punch Bowl of the Bohemian amber glass set above. The tall bowl has a ladle and cover and 12 matching goblets. At right is a rosewood melodeon, 150 years, that still is in playing condition. The musical instrument was a forerunner of the pump organ. The Meissen candlesticks are 17th Century.

At Left Is an early Victorian settee, one of a grouping in three sizes that came from Massachusetts. The sterling coffee service on the table is in a Wild Rose pattern and was appraised at $1,000. A Sheffield tray also is on the table. Among the items on display for the Fox Cities antique fanciers was a pair of dolphins that originally belonged to the early Wisconsin governor, Lucius Fairchild, and were purchased from his great-grandniece.

Pair Says Promises at Reedsville

REEDSVILLE — Miss Ida May Waack became the bride of Orville W. Krepline in a 2 p.m. ceremony May 25 at St. John St. James Evangelical Lutheran Church, Reedsville. The Rev. Harvey Heckendorf officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Emil Waack, route 1, Reedsville, and Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Krepline, route 1, Brillion.

Mrs. Norman Krahn served as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Marvin Kiahn; Miss Janet Waack, a niece of the bride; Miss Joan Junk and Mrs. Eljoen Haese. Miss Cindy Waack, another niece of the bride, served as junior bridesmaid.

Leland Krepline served as best man. Denver Lau, Robert Busse, John Dvorak, and Eljoen Haese were groomsmen. Junior male attendant was Stanley Sukawitz. Harvey Waack and Gerald Dallmann acted as the ring bearers.

A reception at Kubsch's Hall, Kellersville, was held after the ceremony.

The bride and the bridegroom are graduates of Reedsville High School and are employed at the Ariens Company, Brillion. After a wedding trip to Niagara Falls and Canada, they will reside at route 1, Brillion.

Miss Shelly Schimke, Mrs. Marvin Bosaw and Mrs. Lorin Young were hostesses at another miscellaneous shower for Miss Moder, May 9, at the Young home.

Showers Given for Hortonville Girl; June Wedding Set

HORTONVILLE — Miss Betty Moder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Moder, will become the wife of Gene Kaddatz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Kaddatz, June 8. The marriage will be performed at the Stephensville Lutheran Church.

On April 28, Miss Moder was feted at a miscellaneous shower at the Stephensville Lutheran Church parlors by Miss Patricia Kat Kaddatz, Mrs. Edward Ort and Mrs. Ralph Ort.

Your Problems

Mother Walks Daughter Down Aisle for Moment of Revenge

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I disagree with your reply to Deserter Mother. She was a nervous wreck because her daughter wanted to walk down the aisle alone — as a symbolic slap in the face to her absent father who had skipped 17 years earlier.

You said there was no need to make a spectacle of herself and that it would only provide more grist for the gossip mill. You also added, "Why humiliate your mother in an attempt to punish your father — who probably couldn't care less?"

Well, I'm a mother who was faced with precisely the same problem and you are wrong wrong wrong. I walked my daughter down the aisle myself. I then took my place in the front pew. When the minister asked, "Who giveth this woman?" I stood, bowed the guests proudly and replied, "I do!"

My three brothers would have been glad to perform the honors but why should they have been asked? I raised the girl myself and she was mine to give away. It was, I might add, the happiest moment of my entire life. — No Phony

Dear No Phony: The about-to-be bride described in the first letter was a bitter young girl whose hostility would have spoiled the wedding and hurt her mother.

Your letter reflects an even more savage bitterness and hostility. What you refer to as the happiest moment of your entire life was a moment of revenge.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I belong to a club with 17 other secretaries and the problem about which I am writing is a surprisingly common one. The boss wife.

She waltzes into the office almost every day. Ignores closed doors, breaks in on private conferences, sits herself down and acts as if she is Chairman of the Board. This is terribly annoying because I'm supposed to take down everything said at these conferences and when she butts in I'm never sure if I should record her remarks.

Some days she just struts around the office, reads over our shoulders, shuffles through paper on our desks and noses through the file cabinets.

What baffles me is that this woman should know better because she was once a secretary — in fact, she had my job, which is how she got the boss to divorce his wife and marry her.

Why doesn't she have brains enough to stay home? — Annoyed

Dear Annoyed: She sounds like a brass-plated beauty but maybe she's afraid history will repeat itself and she's down there to make certain it doesn't.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: We are delighted with our new daughter-in-law. She and our son graduated from college last fall and they live about 200 miles from here.

They both work and have a lovely apartment with all new furniture. My husband and I are very eager to go visit them and see their little place which they have described in detail. Of course we plan to stay in a hotel since they have only one bedroom, so that is not the question.

What we want to know is this: Should we wait for them to invite us, or should we write and tell them we are coming? My husband says since we will stay in a hotel we need not wait to be invited.

Our relationship with the new daughter-in-law is so good I would hate to do anything that might hurt it. My instincts tell me to wait until a specific invitation is issued. What do you say? — Mrs. Careful

Dear Mrs.: Your instincts are right. Wait for an invitation. You'll be glad you did.

Are your parents too strict? You can benefit from the experiences of thousands of teen-agers if you write for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Live With Your Parents," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Diplomacy Hits High At Show

BY JUDY BARDEN
Chicago Daily News Service

BONN — It has been argued that if women were running things there would be no wars — just quick solutions and amicable relations everywhere.

The American Women's group seemed to prove the point here at a two-day International Tea. Fifty countries took part. All had traditional or contemporary fashions flown in for the show. Most of the models were the wives or daughters of ambassadors stationed here. The order of their appearance could have created quite a protocol problem. But it didn't.

When the French expressed a desire to close the show with their Dior model, the Americans, who were exhibiting a bridal gown, conceded.

Concede Graciously

The British thought they should be somewhere important because they were showing the traditional robe of a baroness, all velvet and ermine, but they too gave in gracefully and sailed down the aisle somewhere in the middle.

All the traditional clothes were exquisite, but for most of us here who are starved for good fashion, the contemporary models won the day.

The Italians with their outfits from Fabiana, Pucci and Caros were by far the best.

But those Finns! What a surprise. Their modern furniture is probably the best in the world. But they are not exactly famous for their fashions, although Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy owns eight designs from the House of Mariemko.

The Perfect Tweed

If you are a slim Marimekko model is a must.

If you are the country huntin' shootin' fishin' type, then the British designer Hardy Amies has just the tweed suit that will swivel all men's eyes from their target to you.

And oh to possess the midnight blue beaded ball gown and purple satin wrap created by Rodriguez of Spain.

The show was to aid the pet charity of Mrs. Heinrich Luebbe, wife of the president of West Germany. It is a home for tired mothers.

Prepare For Driving On Holiday

Driving experts and authorities on auto safety agree that one of the principal causes of highway accidents is driver fatigue caused by simple eyestrain.

With practically the entire nation planning to spend the Memorial Day weekend on wheels there is good reason for every driver to review the method suggested by the experts for avoiding eyestrain. Here are two of the most obvious: Do wear a good pair of sunglasses. Don't start a long or tedious drive if you are already tired or drowsy.

Eliminate Monotony

Turnpike driving, with its hypnotic monotony, is a very real hazard. Keep alert. Carry on a conversation, sing, stamp your feet. If driving alone it is especially urged that the mind be kept active, the senses alert. Talk to yourself. Argue with the man on the radio.

If sleepiness persists full into a roadside park and catch twenty winks. The bottle of witch hazel stashed away in the glove compartment for freshening makeup will come in handy. Soak cotton squares and lay them over the eyes while relaxing. A cup of coffee or tea from a roadside stand will complete the wide-awake picture.

Long trips can be a bore to children, too—especially the very young ones. After attending to their safety: making sure seat belts are fastened and doors locked, help them enjoy their trip by pointing out interesting sights and landmarks. Suggest one of the popular games that go with touring. Surprise them with candy or fruit. If baby is fretful, pat a little good quality witch hazel around his throat and back of the neck. As the solution evaporates it causes a cooling, soothing sensation.

One last thought for a safe and happy Memorial Day drive. Start earlier than you think necessary. It eliminates the need for speed cuts frustration.

Auxiliary to Mark 15th Anniversary

CHILTON — Plans for the Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary's 15th anniversary observance have been completed.

A testimonial banquet at 6:30 p.m. Saturday will be held at Kleist's Hall, Potter. Heading arrangements are past auxiliary presidents, Mrs. Herman Rau, Mrs. Marie Kamps, Mrs. Richard Schmahl, Mrs. Max Casper, Mrs. Emmett Gerner and Mrs. Merlin Schmidtkofer.

When it was organized, the VFW auxiliary enrolled a total of 34 members. Twenty of the charter members remain active.

Chicago White Sox executive and scout, Hugh Wise, will be guest speaker. Wise is in the area to work out details of the White Sox youth camp to be built on Lake Winnebago near Brothertown.

Master of ceremonies will be

Summer Necklines

One of the most popular summer necklines is the convertible collar. You'll find it on your tailored shirts worn with pants and skirts and on shirtwaist dresses. The collar can be sloppy if it is not made properly, but this certainly isn't difficult to do.

Don't become confused when you see that the neckline of the bodice and the collar are of different sizes. The neckline is cut about 1/2 inch larger and must be eased to the collar, or else the collar must be stretched to the neckline.

You can avoid the problem of the undercollar sliding down after the collar is finished. After you have cut out the collar, undercollar and interfacing, trim 1/16 inch to 1/8 inch off the outer edge of undercollar and interfacing. This will make the collar a bit wider and the undercollar won't peak out.

Pin Underfacing

After collar, undercollar, interfacing and facings have been cut out pin interfacing to wrong side of undercollar, being sure to match pattern markings. Now pin undercollar to collar, right sides together. If interfacing is used, cut it away at each point of collar to avoid bulk. Baste together and stitch. Press. Trim interfacing right to the stitching line: trim undercollar to 1/8 inch from stitching and collar to 3/16 inch. At each point, trim diagonally across the point. Turn collar to right side. Ease your seam line to underneath side and press.

Stay-stitch around neckline of bodice. Then clip the neckline every inch or so to the stitching. Pin finished collar to neck edge, matching pattern markings (figure 1).

To make facings, stitch front and back pieces together at each shoulder. Press seams open. Then pin facing over collar to the garment, right sides together; baste and stitch together (figure 2). Trim seam allowances and clip collar and facing every inch or so as you did bodice neckline. Turn facing to wrong side of garment. Press. Tack facing to garment at shoulder seams (figure 3).

If you do not use interfacing, eliminate instructions referring to it, but follow the same steps.

Miss Scott is always glad to hear from her readers, and whenever possible will use their questions in her column, but because of the great volume of mail received daily, she cannot answer individual letters.

Patricia Scott has prepared a booklet, "How to Alter Your Dress Patterns," which gives complete instructions for altering so that finished garments will fit perfectly. For your copy of this guide to correct fitting, write to: Patricia Scott in care of his newspaper, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25c in coin to cover costs of printing and handling.
